JOSEPH T. SHAW, K.C.

Former Liberal Leader Is Dead

CALGARY, July 13.—(CP)—Joseph T. Shaw, K.C., 59, former Alberta Liberal leader and a former member of parliament for Calgary West, died here yesterday.

Mr. Shaw won a seat in parliament when in 1920 he defeated Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, now Viscount Bennett. He represented Calgary West until 1925, when Viscount Bennett was re-elected in the general election. He retired from the provincial leadership in 1930.

Mr. Shaw served overseas in the First Great War. He was wounded at Vimy Ridge and was awarded the Military Cross for gallantry in the field.

He is survived by a son, Stuart, and a daughter, Frances, both of Calgary. Mrs. Shaw died last year.

ROME, July 13.—Fifth Army forces captured Lajatico, German mountain stronghold 20 miles southeast of Livorno, in some of the hardest fighting on the Italian front since the fall of Rome. Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's headquarters reported today.

German resistance stiffened further all along the line, and now was nearing the intensity of a full-scale stand in the outposts of the Gothic line as the Allied Fifth and Eighth armies battled before the coastal anchors of Livorno and Ancona.

The Germans mounted costly and generally unsuccessful counter-attacks in a number of sectors, and were revealed to have pushed advanced Eighth Army elements back two miles from Pietrunga in the mountains east of the Tiber valley.

United States units of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army beat off counter-thrusts in the Era river valley southeast of Livorno before capturing by-passed Lajatico and making gains up to a mile and a half beyond the line five miles eastward from Lajatico to Villamagna.

Mayor Says:

City May Alter Former Shelter To Make Suites

There is a probability that the former children's shelter in the Rossdale area will be converted into suites to help relieve the housing shortage, it was learned at the Civic Block Thursday.

Mayor John W. Fry stated that Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect, has surveyed the structure and has expressed the opinion that it could be converted into suites without great difficulty and at a reasonable cost. It is estimated that five suites could be built on each of the building's three stories.

In the meantime negotiations are continuing for the acquisition of huts at Camp 550 in the Calder area, Mayor Fry stated. It is probable that these negotiations will be completed by the end of this week. These negotiations are being carried on between civic, Dominion government and United States army officials.

The shelter at present is leased by the city to the United States military authorities and is occupied by civilian workers engaged on a war project at the city's airport. Mayor Fry is communicating with the U.S. officials seeking a declaration from them as to the probable date on which the building is likely to be returned to the city.

The special committee of the Independent party making arrangements for Friday's nominating convention to be held at the Masonic Temple will complete its work Thursday, according to party spokesmen.

No decision has been reached as to the number of candidates to be placed in the field in the Edmonton riding. This phase of the party's campaign will be discussed at a Thursday meeting.

It is known that J. Percy Page, member in the last house, and Clarence Richards, Edmonton school teacher, will go before the convention. Other candidates seeking nomination will be announced probably on Friday.

Canadian Action In Pacific Is Seen

TORONTO, July 13.—(CP)—The Globe and Mail said today in an Ottawa dispatch that "More direct participation in the Pacific war by Canada is implied by the dispatch recently to the Far East of an air mission said to be headed by Air Vice-Marshal Lee Stevenson."

The story continued: "Air headquarters refused today (Wednesday) to comment on reports that the mission, composed of a half-dozen or more senior officers, is the advance party of a sufficient number of air crewmen to increase substantially the R.C.A.F. forces operating against the Japs under the Mountbatten command."

"Only last week, however, intimation was given of action in that direction by the appointment of Air Commodore John Plant as deputy air member for air staff plans."

This officer formerly commanded an amphibious R.C.A.F. squadron that has been operating from a Ceylon base for two years or more."

Maj. John K. Mahony

Victoria Cross Won By Canadian Officer

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—A former newspaperman who continued successful direction of the holding of an Italian bridgehead after being wounded three times, Maj. John (Jack) Keefer Mahony, 33, of New Westminster, B.C., becomes Canada's fifth and the Empire's 90th Victoria Cross winner of this war, Defence Minister Ralston announced today.

The official citation told how "with absolute fearlessness and disregard to his own safety" he led his company in a May 24 action which was described as "vital to the whole Canadian Corps action and failure would have meant delay, repulsion of the attack, probably involving heavy losses of men, material and time and would have given the enemy a breather space which might have broken the impetus of the corps' advance."

The modest soldier himself, mentioning the action briefly in a letter to his mother, wondered what his family had done May 24, and added: "It was a very busy day for yours truly and one I shan't forget in a hurry."

A slim, boyish looking soldier, Maj. Mahony is an officer of the Westminster regiment—a motorized formation. The action for which the coveted Cross was awarded took place at the Melfa river, May 24. The major's determination in gaining and holding the bridgehead and his personal heroism and resourcefulness.

ROME, July 13.—(CP)—Private J. E. Neill, of New Westminster, B.C., orderly to Maj. John Keefer Mahony, also of New Westminster, Canada's newest V.C., said today: "On three different occasions I saw the major rescue wounded men under heavy fire. One time when a shell landed close he was wounded and knocked out for a minute. We tried to persuade him to rest but he refused and continued to direct the fire of what was left of his company."

Once when a section was pinned down by enemy fire, Maj. Mahony crawled forward and used smoke grenades to extricate the section with the loss of only one man.

Churchill, F.D.R. Meeting Is Likely Take Place Soon

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—A meeting between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt may come before long, the way cleared in part by Mr. Roosevelt's revision of policy to permit practical co-operation with General de Gaulle.

No time for these talks has been indicated. The president, however, has hinted at two news conferences that he expects to see the prime minister this summer or fall and that he would probably make the trip to Britain this time instead of having Mr. Churchill come over.

Report Reds at River Barrier 25 Miles From East Prussia

LONDON, July 13.—Nazi broadcasts reported today that the German army had begun a major retreat on the Baltic front and that massed Russian armor was trying to force the Niemen river at Alytus, Lithuania, 25 miles from the 1939 border of East Prussia.

The Berlin radio beat out a running account of bad news for the Germans on the eastern front throughout the day, highlighted by the report of a large-scale withdrawal in keeping with a previous warning that this drastic step was

New Brunswick Calls General Election Aug. 28

FREDERICTON, July 13.—(CP)—Premier J. B. McNair announced today a general election would be held in New Brunswick Aug. 28.

The last general election was held Nov. 30, 1939 when 29 Liberals and 19 Conservatives were returned to the 48-seat legislature. The standing at dissolution is Liberals 25, Progressive Conservatives 16, and vacant 7.

It will be the fourth provincial election this year. Saskatchewan citizens went to the polls June 13 and residents of Alberta and Quebec will vote Aug. 8.

The life of the present legislature—12th since Confederation—was due to expire late this year.

CANDIDATES NAMED
For some time past, conventions of both parties have been nominating candidates throughout the province. Premier McNair was among those nominated and will be candidate in Victoria.

The C.C.F. already has announced its intention of contesting most of the seats in the election. In the 1939 election, the only candidates other than Liberals or Conservatives were one C.C.F. and an Independent Liberal candidate, both losing their deposits.

Claude P. Milton of Moncton, N.B., is provincial president of the C.C.F. party, but a leader for the election campaign has yet to be appointed.

Hugh Mackay is Progressive Conservative leader.

Premier McNair issued a 31-point manifesto pledging the Liberal party, if returned to office, to a wide range of social measures for economic development.

Men and women serving in the armed forces will vote and arrangements for the service ballot are being made by J. Miles Gibson as a special returning officer. Details of the service vote will be announced later.

15 Allied Ships Lost in Invasion

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—Six British and American destroyers were lost in landing operations in France, the admiralty and the U.S. navy department announced tonight.

Three British destroyers announced lost by the admiralty were the Boadicea, Swift and Svenner. The British also announced the loss of the frigates, Moore, Blackwood and Lawford, the trawler, Lord Austin and the auxiliary Minister.

Total naval losses announced were 15 vessels, seven American and eight British. Several thousand ships were involved in the landings.

The former Grace liner Santa Clara, renamed the transport Susan B. Anthony, also was lost by American naval forces along with the minesweeper Tide, the destroyer escort Rich and the fleet tug Partidge.

The American destroyers were the Corry and Glennon, built in the 1940-41 program, and the Meredith.

Edmonton Flier In Bomber Raid On French City

LONDON, July 13.—(CP)—R.A.F. Mitchell of the 2nd Tactical Air Force with many Canadians in their crews attacked a fuel dump at Chartres, France, last evening and scored hits which brought up "great heaps of smoke."

Edmonton Sailor In Exciting Action

A BRITISH PORT, July 13.—(CP)—A Canadian motor torpedo boat flotilla commanded by Lt. Cdr. J. R. H. Kirkpatrick, D.S.C., of Kitchener, Ont., attacked a German convoy heading into the French port of Saint Malo, west of the Cherbourg peninsula, sank two merchantmen, left one escort vessel in flames and damaged several others, the Royal Canadian Navy announced today.

Exact date of the action, the flotilla's fourth engagement with the enemy, was not announced. Only a week ago, the Canadians attacked a convoy off Cherbourg, sank one enemy escort and sank or damaged several trawlers.

Sub-Lt. Tom Poaps of Edmonton related how his boat, commanded by Lieut. Malcolm Knox of Montreal, closed on the convoy before firing its torpedoes. "We fired our torpedoes and covered our retreat with gunfire," he said. "All of a sudden there was a column of smoke and steam and then no ship. It just disappeared."

Bracken Heading West For Talks

By C. H. HIGGINBOTHAM
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, July 13.—On his way to Saskatoon to discuss party matters with Rupert Ramsay, provincial leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in Saskatchewan, John Bracken, federal leader, left Ottawa Wednesday night. Mr. Bracken will spend two days in Winnipeg before leaving for Saskatchewan.

A meeting is to be held in Saskatoon at which reorganization of party forces will be planned for the forthcoming federal election. Organizers and party officials will attend the meeting and Dr. W. M. Drummond, agricultural advisor to the party, who is with Mr. Bracken on his trip west, will be present.

It is likely that while Mr. Bracken is in Winnipeg he will discuss the state of his party in Manitoba. Up to the present time there has been no official indication of where Mr. Bracken himself will seek a seat in the federal election, but it is confidently expected he will do so in Manitoba. The constituencies mentioned by political observers here include Portage La Prairie, Brandon and Neepawa. Mr. Bracken so far has been silent on where he will seek nomination.

Douglas Warns Lending Firms To Halt Seizures

REGINA, July 13.—(CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas, leader of the C.C.F. Saskatchewan government, said in a broadcast last night mortgage and lending institutions now "Are becoming almost ruthless in an attempt to seize all they can before we can pass legislation for the protection of the debtors."

He indicated an early session of the legislature to deal with debt problems.

"Let me warn the mortgage companies here and now that unless they stop their campaign we shall be forced to take steps to protect those whose farms they are trying to seize."

He indicated an early session of the legislature to deal with debt problems.

Mr. Douglas predicted opposition of the capitalist press and said "If we may judge by experience of Alberta, the federal government will, in all probability, do everything possible to thwart our every attempt to better the lot of the people."

The premier said the first pledge of the government to be carried out will be to take the civil service

"M" Depot to Close By Aug. 15, Report

Although official sources continue to disclaim all knowledge of the reported closing of No. 3 "M" Depot, indications here are that the depot will be closed in the near future.

In support of this are reports from Ottawa stating that the depot will be entirely closed down by Aug. 15, and that by Aug. 1 there will be only a skeleton staff and a limited number of Australian and New Zealand airmen awaiting posting, remaining there.

Airmen in training will be posted to No. 1 "M" depot, Toronto, it is stated.

Reason for closing of the centres is said to be the cessation of air force recruiting.

German Army Begins Retreat From Baltics

Nazi broadcasts said "disengaging movements" announced by Dittmar has started in the northern part of the eastern front, and some German divisions withdrew from the Pakov-Ostrov area, the formidable fortified line immediately east of lower Estonia and upper Latvia.

Lt.-Gen. Kurt Dittmar, leading Nazi military commentator, said Tuesday that "the only possibility of restoring a favorable situation today, upon which everything now depends in the defence of the Reich, lies in a straightening of the whole front on a major scale."

That was the action reported by the Berlin radio today to have begun as the Red Army struck out in a new offensive which knocked a 30-mile gap in the German defences directly below the Pakov-Ostrov sector and sped westward in striking distance of the East Prussian soil of Germany proper.

"PROTECTING" BALTICS

The blunt word from Berlin that a big-scale retreat was on carried the implication that the Germans were giving up the Baltic states to bulwark the defence of East Prussia.

But floundering Nazi propaganda padded the blow to morale on the home front a few minutes after the original broadcast with a military spokesman's word that the move merely was intended to increase the protection of the Baltics, into which the Red Army was pouring in broad front.

A British United Press dispatch from Moscow said the German plight in the Baltics now was regarded as "critical" and added:

"The Nazi command is desperately trying to slow down the Soviet offensive and now faces the imminent prospect of being forced to yield the whole Baltic position in order to concentrate forces for the defence of East Prussia and Central Poland."

GRAVE THREAT

"Red armies now are slugging forward across the narrowest sector of the Baltic states, presenting the Germans with a grave threat to their forces in the northern Baltics."

Officials of the Latvian Soviet Republic in Moscow told the government organ Ivestia that German preparations for the evacuation of Latvia were in full swing. Industrial equipment was being loaded for shipment to Germany. Cattle were being slaughtered or shipped. The Latvians were rounding up all Latvian youths they could find and sending them to the front.

The Germans were reported in flight ahead of Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Second Baltic Army, which in a new offensive, announced yesterday, captured more than 1,000 places and advanced up to 22 miles.

CAPTURE IDRITSJA

The Russians seized Idritsa, depriving the Germans of a powerful shield with which they hoped to protect the Latvian border. Its fortifications constituted a powerful and complex system of pillboxes, firing points, minefields and trenches.

The new push extended to 450 miles the length of the blazing battlefield in the east. There was no slackening of the drives beyond Wilno and through central Poland toward Bialystok and Warsaw beyond.

That was the situation confronting the German military commander who said of the disclosure of the Nazi retreat:

"The German detaching movements in northern sector of the eastern front shall serve to improve the protection wall around the Baltic area."

"Through a straightening of the front line in the area of Polotsk, where the German lines were taken back, a link has been established with the front on the central sector, thus giving better protection for the defence of the Baltic area."

Munich Is Hit Third Straight Day by Yanks

planes rose through occasionally breaking clouds to harass the huge fleet of bombers.

For the most part they confined their activities to flash attacks on the bomber formation, making quick passes at the Forts with guns blazing.

SPECIFIC TARGET

The three-day, intensive bombing of Munich gave rise to the possibility that the Allied air command was after a specific target, probably the city's aero-engine works, at least one of which is known to be turning out new model engines. Whether or not they are the robot bomb's jet-propelled motors was a matter of speculation.

A high air force officer said today the Munich bombing, during which the city has received nearly 10,000 tons of bombs, was definitely part of the strategic air pattern and "not in any sense a retaliation for the robot attacks."

More than 6,300 tons of bombs were dropped on the Bavarian city in the first two raids Tuesday and Wednesday.

As a result of the heavy attacks—within 48 hours—Munich apparently has marked for the same obliteration treatment meted out to Hamburg by the R.A.F. just a year ago.

8,000 TONS HIT HAMBURG

In 10 days, from July 24 to Aug. 2, Hamburg was smashed with 8,000 tons of high explosives. Hamburg, however, had a normal population of nearly 1,750,000, while Munich has less than half that number.

Munich is one of the most vital rail centres in southern Germany, being the junction point of lines running toward the Brenner Pass on the Italian front and to the west toward France.

The aerial force which attacked Munich today was estimated at between 750 and 1,000 heavy bombers and nearly 500 fighters, bringing to the total number over the city in three days to approximately 3,360.

Jap India Army Badly Smashed

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

KANDY, Ceylon, July 13.—The abortive Japanese expedition into India from Northern Burma continued to deteriorate today with the enemy splitting into disorganized remnants and surrendering to the British in the Imphal-Ukhrul sector and to the south, abandoning control of their most important supply route over the Palei-Tamu road.

An Allied communique, meanwhile, reported that West African Chinthees and Chinese in a combined attack captured the village of Pyindaw, approximately eight miles west southwest of Mogauing.

The heavy resistance they encountered indicated the importance of the Japanese attack to the Mogauing-Mandalay railway, upon which Pyindaw is located. It was expected the enemy would bitterly contest further thrusts along the rail line.

In the Imphal-Ukhrul sector, isolated bands of Japanese were still being pursued and wiped out, the communique said.

leadership is described in the official citation accompanying the award.

The major becomes the third British Columbia soldier to win the Empire's highest award for valor in this war. Lt.-Col. C. Cecil Merritt of Vancouver, now a prisoner of war, was so honored for his heroism at Dieppe. Maj. Charles Ferguson Hoey of Duncan, B.C., was posthumously awarded the V.C. for service with British forces in the India-Burma campaign in February, Capt. F. T. Peters of the Royal Navy, a native of Prince Edward Island whose mother lives at Nelson, B.C., won the award for forcing the boom of Oran during the North African landing, Nov. 8, 1942. Canada's fifth V.C. is Maj. Paul Triquet of Cabano, Que. He won the medal for bravery with the French-Canadian Royal 22nd Regiment at Casa Berardi, Italy, Dec. 14, 1943.

CITATION OF AWARD

The citation accompanying Maj. Mahony's award follows:

On May 24, 1944, a company of the Westminster Regiment (motor) under the command of Maj. Mahony was ordered to establish the initial bridgehead across the River Melfa. The enemy still had strong forces of tanks, self-propelled guns and infantry holding defensive positions on the east side of the river. Despite this, Maj. Mahony personally led his company down to and across the river, being with the leading section.

"Although the crossing was made in full view of and under heavy fire from enemy machine gun posts on the right rear and left front, he personally directed each section into its proper position on the west bank with the greatest coolness and confidence. The crossing was made and a small bridgehead was established on ground where it was only possible to dig shallow weapon pits.

"From 3:30 p.m. the company maintained itself in the face of enemy fire and attack until 8:30 p.m. when the remaining companies and supporting weapons were able to cross the river and reinforce them.

CONSTANTLY UNDER FIRE

"The bridgehead was enclosed on three sides by an 88 mm. self-propelled gun 450 yards to the right, a battery of four anti-aircraft guns 100 yards to the left, a Spanish type of machine gun used by the Germans 100 yards to the left of it, to the left of the Spaniard a second 88 mm. self-propelled gun and approximately a company of infantry with mortars and machine guns on the left of the 88 mm. From all these weapons Maj. Mahony's company was constantly under fire until it eventually succeeded in knocking out the self-propelled equipment and the infantry on the left flank.

"Shortly after the bridgehead had been established, the enemy counter-attacked with infantry supported by tanks and self-propelled guns. The counter-attack was beaten off by the company with its Plais (Plat projectors), two-inch mortars and grenades, due to the skill with which Maj. Mahony had organized his defences.

SHOWS FEARLESSNESS

"With absolute fearlessness and disregard for his own safety, Maj. Mahony personally directed the fire of his Plais throughout this action, encouraging and exhorting his men. By this time the company strength had been reduced to 60 men and all but one of the platoon officers had been wounded. Scarcely an hour later the enemy tanks formed up about 500 yards in front of the bridgehead and together with about a company of infantry launched a second counter-attack. Maj. Mahony, determined to hold the position at all costs, went from section to section with words of encouragement, personally directing fire of mortars and other weapons.

"At one stage a section was pinned down in the open by accurate and intense machine-gun fire. Maj. Mahony crawled forward to their position and by throwing smoke grenades succeeded in extricating the section from its position with the loss of only one man. This counter-attack was finally beaten off by the destruction of three enemy self-propelled guns and one Panther tank.

"Early in the action Maj. Mahony was wounded in the head and twice in the leg, but he refused medical aid and continued to direct the defence of the bridgehead despite the fact that movement of any kind caused him extreme pain. It was only when the remaining companies of the regiment had crossed the river to support him that he allowed his wounds to be dressed and even then refused to be evacuated, staying instead with his company.

VITAL TO WHOLE CORPS

"The forming and holding of a bridgehead across the river was vital to the whole Canadian corps action and failure would have meant delay, a repetition of the attack, probably involving heavy losses in men, material and time and would have given the enemy a breathing space which might have broken the impetus of the corps advance.

"Maj. Mahony, knowing this, never allowed the thought of failure or withdrawal to enter his mind and infused his spirit and determination into all his men. At the first sign of hesitation or faltering Maj. Mahony was there to encourage by his own example those who were feeling the strain of battle.

"The enemy perceived that this officer was the soul of the defence and consequently fired at him constantly with all weapons, from rifle to 88 mm. guns. Maj. Mahony com-

Exciting Moment King, Queen See Action As Flying-Bomb Downed

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND, July 13.—(CP)—The King and Queen yesterday saw a flying bomb brought down partly by gunfire and partly by a fighter pilot.

It was one of the most exciting moments of the war for Their Majesties, who in the course of three hours at an anti-aircraft gun site in a big field somewhere in Southern England, saw several of the pilotless planes engaged by a battery of 37 guns.

They stood with Gen. Sir Frederick Pile, officer commanding the anti-aircraft command, watching through field glasses the pattern of grey shell-bursts in a double line across the sky following the flying bomb as it flashed on its way.

Gradually the shell-bursts closed on it, and then suddenly a fighter roared out of a cloud behind the projectile. The guns ceased, and avoiding the bursting shells the pilot got his target in his sight. He put in a burst, and a few seconds later the flying bomb crashed.

The Queen told a bombardier: "It has been pretty good shooting. I like to see these things shoved about a bit."

"Yes," added the King, "it is a pity there are no Germans in them."

They ignored the enemy fire and with great courage and absolute disregard for personal danger commanded his company with such great confidence, energy and skill, that the enemy's efforts to destroy the bridgehead were all defeated.

"The great courage shown by Maj. Mahony in this action will forever be an inspiration to his regiment and to the Canadian Army."

WAS NEWSPAPERMAN

The peace-time newspaperman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mahony of New Westminster. At the Duke of Connaught school there he was a good scholar and keen on swimming and lacrosse. He was a carrier boy for the Vancouver Province and later advanced in the circulation department of that newspaper. As a youth he joined the Westminster Machine Gun Regiment of the Non-Permanent Active Militia, served in the ranks and was commissioned as a second lieutenant Jan. 26, 1938.

When his regiment mobilized for active service, at the outbreak of war, he was taken on strength of the Canadian Army as lieutenant and for a time served as unit intelligence officer. He went overseas Nov. 10, 1941 and a month later he was promoted to the rank of captain. Promoted to the acting rank of major Feb. 15, 1943, he was confirmed in that rank three months later. He went to the Central Mediterranean theatre last November.

Maj. Mahony's family will be surprised when they read the official citation. The only word of the events of May 24 from their son was in a letter dated June 11, in which he wrote:

"I am wondering what the family was doing on May 24th. It was a very busy day for yours truly and one I shan't forget in a hurry."

"My company did a grand job on that day and they are sitting on top of the world."

He also said: "We are still out on rest which is very easy to take. But I think the rest was well earned."

And later he spoke of being guest at a mess dinner of a "well known permanent force regiment" at which the colonel offered him an autographed sketch on which the colonel "added a few very nice words."

Yank Forces Are Closing In on St. Lo

treat to the east bank, the Germans faced the alternatives of fording the river or attempting to build pontoon spans under the concentrated fire of British artillery.

Lt.-Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey proceeded methodically with his preparations for a new assault after his forces had recaptured Malto, five miles southwest of Caen, and hurled back 90 tanks which the Germans threw against the salient between the Orne and the Odon in two futile counter-attacks yesterday.

The last mile into the heart of St. Lo, centre of the German defences on the Normandy front, shook under a heavy artillery barrage as the Americans drove spearheads to the east and northwest of the city, setting the stage for a possible encirclement of the stubbornly defended hilltop citadel.

NO SIGNS OF RETREAT

The Germans still showed no signs of any large scale withdrawal anywhere along the Normandy front. Headquarters sources expected that if and when such a withdrawal comes, it is more likely to be on the American front than the British-Canadian where the Germans kept the might of their armor and infantry to block the high road to Paris.

Sizeable German forces had been shifted westward to meet the American attacks, but most of the enemy strength facing Bradley's army was infantry.

United Kingdom and Canadian forces were reported to have knocked out a large percentage of the 90 tanks which German Marshal Erwin Rommel hurled against them. At least 84 German panzers were destroyed or damaged by Allied planes and British success Tuesday and the British success yesterday probably boosted the total for the 48-hour period to more than 100 and for the past five days to nearly 200—well over the equivalent of a full German armored division.

Additional smashing firepower against the German panzers has been supplied by fighter-bombers and R.A.F. rocket-firing fighters. Heavy fighting was reported around Hottot, two miles below Tilly-sur-Seuil at the hinge of the British salient across the Odon river.

The 2nd Army holds positions just north of the village.

The Americans reached the gates of St. Lo, hilltop fortress guarding the invasion roads to the heart of Normandy, in an advance down the Bayeux-St. Lo highway from the northeast.

German paratroopers fiercely resisted the advance and fighting raged at such close quarters that at some points the Americans were on one side of a hedgerow and the Nazis on the other.

The outflanking column seized St. Pierre-Du Semilly and drove toward the St. Lo-Caumont highway after cutting a road running east northeast to Berny. Here, too, the Americans were meeting stiff opposition.

Northwest of St. Lo, American forces extended their bridgehead across the Vire river with a thrust west from Pont Hebert and farther northwest, almost completed the encirclement of the Gorges inundations in a pincers advance on the road junction of Periers.

Midway between St. Lo and Periers, the Americans linked up across the La Taute river and captured most of the village of St. Andre-De Bohon, four and a half miles south of Caen.

American troops in the west coast sector punched their way down both sides of the La Haye-Du Puits-Lessay road to within a little more than two miles of the railway and highway hub of Lessay.

Allied air forces have struck nearly 700 specific railway, highway, airfield and radio targets since D-day in addition to hundreds of other similar "targets of opportunity" picked off during patrolling. It was announced officially today.

An air spokesman listed 144 railway bridges, 97 road bridges, 72 river bridges, 193 railway centres, 96 airfields and 24 radar radio location stations.

To Bolster Armies Report Nazis to Withdraw From Norway and Balkans

By J. EDWARD MURRAY

LONDON, July 13.—A Madrid dispatch said today that Germany's supreme war council, hurriedly convoked by Adolf Hitler, has decided to withdraw forces from certain occupied countries—believed to be Norway and the Balkans—to bolster its battered armies against mounting Allied threats from the east, west and south.

Daily Paper Is Goal of C.C.F. Party in Sask.

REGINA, July 13.—(CP)—A C.C.F. daily newspaper in Saskatchewan "to fight in the interests of the people is the ultimate goal" of the Saskatchewan Commonwealth section of the C.C.F., said managing editor, F. C. Williams of Regina here today.

Mr. Williams' report to the ninth annual convention urging almost immediate step-up of the size of the weekly newspaper and suggesting sale of $1 shares through the 49 constituency organizations to establish a fund for the daily newspaper, was adopted.

He estimated about $250,000 would be needed before launching the daily. Shares in the C.C.F. Publishing and Printing Company Limited, a joint stock company, are $1 he said. "I know definitely new equipment is available," and asked the convention "how much of a go-ahead signal you are going to give us."

Long-range plan

"Those who are going to make the sacrifice in making possible an enlarged newspaper, must be one dividend—the dividend of truth and knowledge," he said.

The managing editor said the Saskatchewan Commonwealth should be in harmony with progress of the C.C.F. movement, and suggested a long-range plan as suitable in bringing the daily newspaper into being. First step within two or three months should be to enlarge the present C.C.F. weekly from eight to a 12-page or 16-page issue.

"Two hundred thousand people voted for the C.C.F. in June, and if all were willing to contribute $1, we should have almost the sum necessary for the daily," Mr. Williams said.

"Just turn us loose and the army of people in Saskatchewan will provide the money in nine months."

Study co-operative

The managing editor said three men of the co-operative movement in Saskatchewan now are studying a setup for a daily paper on a co-operative basis. He did not disclose names of the investigators.

The present Saskatchewan Commonwealth plant, however, would be pressed if circulation increased 10,000 overnight, he said. Subscriptions have been arriving at the rate of 500 a week and now total 23,000.

Mr. Williams charged that to disclose source of equipment for a daily newspaper "the Sifton interests would be there tomorrow to gobble it up like they did with the Regina Star."

"Although we succeeded in uprooting Liberalism in Saskatchewan as it never has been done before we have not yet uprooted the capitalist system and capitalist press."

Makes charges

Mr. Williams charged the Regina Leader-Post in the last eight weeks continued a policy of "lighting the C.C.F. in an effort to poison minds to the people. Since the C.C.F. government took office the newspaper continues the same policy."

Such a policy, he said, helped the C.C.F. into power and, if continued, "probably would keep us in power."

Whether or not the C.C.F. goes out into the daily field, it must always keep the weekly to give rural people information, Mr. Williams said.

Earlier the convention chairman, John Wellbelove, M.L.A. (Kerrobert-Kildersley), urged that matters of private C.C.F. affairs be dealt with in secret session. He apparently referred to a discussion yesterday when several delegates claimed Co-operatives Minister L. F. McIntosh had been nominated in Prince Albert while not a C.C.F. party member for the period required by the C.C.F. constitution.

Motion ignored

A motion from the floor that a committee check press reports of conventions before they were published received no response from the delegates.

A constitutional resolution approved urged the provincial government to introduce legislation at the first session of the legislature, so that a C.C.F. M.L.A. who did not live up to pledges and the party constitution could be recalled.

The provincial council membership was increased to 63 with Regina.

On Indemnities

Members of House Warned Against Easing Tax Burden While Others Paying Heavily

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley last night warned members of parliament against giving the impression of treating themselves better than they did the heavily taxed private citizens of Canada.

That was his reply to a chorus of demands from members of all parties that part of the members' $4,000 sessional indemnity be treated as an allowance for expenses and made exempt from income tax.

The minister said he sympathized with the plight of members who found their indemnity reduced to around $2,800 a year and out of that had to live in Ottawa six months of the year while maintaining homes in their constituencies as well as meet election, travelling and other expenses.

MAY BE CHANGE

He did not say a change should not be made, but he did say if one was made it should not apply to the present members, but only to those returned at the next election.

"The confidence of the people in their elected representatives must be maintained," he said.

He questioned if that confidence could be maintained if the impression prevailed members treated themselves better than they did other citizens who were also highly taxed and, on the whole, patient.

Members devoted almost a whole day to talking about the situation and the discussion revealed that behind the scenes committees of all parties have been working on schemes to provide some relief from what some members described as an intolerable situation.

LITTLE TO GAIN

The discussion, in the main, was led by members who have least to gain from any change, a number of the more wealthy members who are content to be out of pocket and the veteran A. W. Neill (Ind., Comox-Alberni) who does not intend to run at the next election.

The specific suggestion that part of the indemnity be treated as nontaxable expenses was put forward by Arthur Slaght, K.C., (L., Parry Sound), as the house opened discussion in committee of ways and means on the first of the budget resolutions providing for removal of the compulsory savings feature of the income tax law.

Mr. Ilsley said members and ministers are paid and taxed in the same way now as before the war. The only difference was in the weight of taxation. The proposal now was that the rules should be changed. These rules, right or wrong, had existed since the enactment of the Income War Tax Act. Yet the same rules would continue to apply to all other taxpayers.

SEES LITTLE WRONG

He said he saw little wrong with the income tax system and believed the government would shrink from making a far-reaching change.

"There is no essential injustice that I can see in the system," he said.

A special case might be made out from the point of view of getting young men into parliament or because indemnities were so much less than in the United States.

"Throughout the war, however," he said, "I think we should be very careful."

It had been a hard struggle to control wages, salaries and prices.

It was unpleasant and disagreeable. Other persons in Canada received the same salaries as in 1940 and had to pay higher taxes. The general principle was that a person called on to pay high taxes should pay them and should not be allowed "an out" by getting a higher salary.

"We must be careful that those who are caught between high taxes and frozen salaries will not say to us that 'you found an out for yourselves by easing part of your income out of taxation.'"

DEEP APPRECIATION

Mr. Ilsley said he had a deep appreciation of the members' position. He did not say action should not be taken. He simply did not feel it should be taken at the present session.

A. W. Neill (Ind.-Comox-Alberni) said members from the far west were worse off than those who lived near Ottawa and could go home week-ends to attend to their business. He had no personal interest since he did not intend to run again and so advocacy of better treatment for members could come with better grace than that of other members.

Members of parliament should be treated as other workers, no better—no worse. They should be allowed to deduct legitimate expenses from their taxable incomes.

The government was "not to blame for lack of courage". It was the members themselves who were afraid of public sentiment.

GET KICK OUT OF IT

"For the same reason that you go to town and get drunk, I get a kick out of it."

Although he lived quietly and inexpensively, on his own records he was $378 out for being a member of parliament in a year. That was after setting aside $1,000 to take care of election expenses which had to be spread over a period of years.

"If we go on as we are," he said, "we are going to have a parliament of rich men or the tools of rich men."

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North Centre) said it was not a case of members trying to relieve themselves of taxation. The proposal was in line with one of the objectives set forth for tax changes by Finance Minister Ilsley relieving cases of special hardship which arose when taxation was high. Members had fought for relief in cases of hardship on other groups and Mr. Ilsley had relieved a number of such cases.

Mr. Knowles said he had a trade and belonged to a trade union. If he worked at the printing trade in Winnipeg at present rates of wages and taxes he would be better off than he is as a member of parliament.

PLANS TO CONTINUE

Despite this, he proposed to continue as a member if elected because it was a duty he was glad to perform to render such service as he could.

R. W. Mayhew (L., Victoria, B.C.) said he was out money but was not concerned about that. He was concerned because he could not seriously recommend public life to some young men who should be coming to parliament.

Hon. R. B. Hanson (P.C., York-Sunbury) one of the wealthier members who said he had little personal interest in the matter as he had been "living on capital since the start of the war," raised the plight of the private member when the first of the budget resolutions dealing with income tax changes was discussed in committee of ways and means.

He received a chorus of support from members of all parties and two of the speakers brought out the hitherto undisclosed fact that members have been privately conferring with one another on the situation and have taken the matter up with the government.

COURAGE LACKING

"The difficulty with this question is lack of courage on the part of the powers that be," said W. A. Fraser, (L., North Cumberland). "Within the last 24 hours the minister of finance (Mr. Ilsley) and his colleagues have had presented to them by a number of members from each group a recommendation that members of parliament have $1,500 exempt from taxation in order to cover their expenses while living in Ottawa."

When Mr. Fraser was asked by Deputy Speaker J. A. Bradette to withdraw a suggestion that Mr. Ilsley lacked courage, Mr. Fraser said it need not be withdrawn as he would deal with it later.

Later in the debate G. G. McGeer, K.C., (L., Vancouver-Burrard) said the sovereignty of parliament was involved and it was a question of whether the will of the finance department or the house should prevail.

Mr. Ilsley asked: "How many members before today have stood in their places and said they wanted their indemnities free from taxation?"

"I speak only from information that comes to me," said Mr. McGeer, "but I believe there have been committees appointed and that on more than one occasion those committees represented all parties in the house—a Liberal committee, meeting with committees of the official opposition, the Social Credit and C.C.F. parties—and have returned to the government and conveyed a unanimous wish on the part of all parties."

"There has been a difference of opinion among members," said Mr. Ilsley.

Here is the way one member, Mr. Hanson, fares. He used his own case as an example. As a private member he receives a $4,000 indemnity, from which there is deducted $1,480 for income tax; his living expenses in Ottawa are $10 a day—$1,800 for a 180-day session; his trips home to his constituency—12 in a session at $25 each cost him $300.

The one concrete suggestion came from Arthur Slaght, K.C., (L., Parry Sound) although it was supported by others members. It was that part of the indemnity, $1,500 or more be treated as expenses covering costs of living in Ottawa and made exempt from taxation.

FEAR CRITICISM

By law members of parliament are among the few groups of people in Canada who have power to increase their own incomes. Parliament can vote any amount of money it chooses. Their reluctance to do so springs from the fact that they are dealing with other people's money and may be criticized at election times.

Several members yesterday complained, however, that members of parliament are the only

Two Senators Win Renomination in Primary Balloting

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—The renominations of Senators Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma and Charles W. Tobey, New Hampshire, and the victory of C.I.O.-endorsed Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston for the Massachusetts Democratic nomination for governor yesterday highlighted primary returns from six states.

Republican Governor Arthur H. Langf of Washington led Maj. Louis Wasmert, Spokane radio station owner in an apparently successful bid for renomination. Senator M. C. Wallgren was unopposed for the Democratic nomination for governor and Democratic Lieutenant Governor Victor A. Meyers won renomination.

Early returns gave Adams S. Renshaw of Salt Lake City a lead in the four-man race for the Republican senatorial nomination in Utah. Democratic Senator Elbert D. Thomas was unopposed in his party's primary.

people in the country required to pay income tax on the money they must spend in order to earn their indemnities. While a travelling salesman is not taxed on his expenses members are not allowed to deduct travelling expenses to or from Ottawa, to their constituencies, costs of long distance telephone calls and telegrams, or extra living costs, due to having to maintain two homes.

Speakers insisting on a change in addition to Mr. Hanson, Mr. Fraser, Mr. Slaght and Mr. McGeer, included M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, Victor Quetch (S.C., Acadia), George Cruickshank (L., Fraser Valley) and Alfred Bence (P.C., Saskatoon).

Mr. Bence, one of the younger members of the house, confessed the situation was intolerable to him. Mr. Cruickshank said he knew of two young members in the armed forces who had decided they could not afford to run for parliament again.

Desolate Scene

Carpiguet Place of Death After Capture by Canucks

By LOUIS V. HUNTER

CARPIQUET, France, July 13.—(CP)—Devastation which veterans of the First Great War say exceeds anything they ever saw has been wrought in this small farming centre taken by Canadian infantrymen, who then pushed on to capture the important airfield nearby.

Carpiguet is a place of the dead. The only life visible are a few birds chirping in trees that have been stripped of leaves and even bark, and farm-yard animals wandering pathetically among the rubble.

The smell of death is in the air. Carcasses of cattle lie in farmyards and although Allied dead have been buried blackened German bodies may be seen where they fell.

SAVAGE STRUGGLE

The fall of Caen, three miles to the east, overshadowed the capture of Carpiquet and its airport but the scenes of destruction testify to the savagery of the struggle. Canadian troops in the fight included battalions from the maritimes, Ontario, western Canada and a French-speaking battalion from Quebec.

The town will have to be rebuilt completely. Not one house is intact.

In a grey stone church, now without a steeple, almost the only objects left intact are statues of Saint Theresa of the Little Flower and the Virgin Mary with the infant Jesus in her arms and even the latter is scarred.

I found L.-Cpl. Arthur Wilton of Shaunavon, Sask., examining the wreckage of two Bren carriers in a farmyard. Other Allied and German equipment is scattered through the town.

Dusty bulbs and lampshades waste electricity, giving from 20 to 30 per cent. less light.

Teaching Russian

The announcement that courses in Russian history and ultimately in the Russian language will be given at the University of Alberta indicates the operation of an enlightened and progressive policy.

The opportunity now exists, and should exist more abundantly after the war, for the establishment of a mutually profitable Canadian friendship with the Russian people. It can be a friendship and an accord capable, not only of promoting valuable trade relationships, but of helping to secure the peace in this hemisphere.

But Canada and the Canadian people cannot pursue this opportunity if the barriers of diverse speech and misunderstanding exist between ourselves and the Soviet Union. We must know something about the Russians; we must be able to talk to them. It is reasonable to expect that they will want to understand and talk to us.

The University of Alberta, then, performs a genuine public service when it sets up machinery designed to help Canadians seize this opportunity for a profitable friendship with Russia.

Anything that will promote peace and international amity is a valuable educational enterprise.

Conscription

The debate in the House of Commons following the statement of the Hon. J. L. Ralston that Canada will continue recruiting for overseas service on a voluntary basis throws some interesting sidelights upon the stands of the various political parties in this regard.

In 1940, the Liberals and Conservatives agreed on a policy of no conscription for overseas service. The C.C.F. was opposed to any troops, volunteers or conscripts, going to fight outside Canada. The Social Credit party advocated conscription of men and resources from the very beginning.

The Liberals, as shown in Col. Ralston's statement, maintain their 1940 stand. Social Credit, presumably, still supports the idea of general conscription.

Only the C.C.F. and the Conservatives have altered their viewpoint. The C.C.F. moderating its position of aloofness with the entrance of Russia into the war, and the Conservatives taking a new position with the acquisition of a new name.

Nevertheless, the Progressive Conservative demand for conscription is not to be tested at the polls just yet. In Quebec, where conscription is the liveliest issue, the Progressive Conservatives will not take part in the forthcoming provincial elections. Their position indicates that they propose to forget Quebec—write that province off completely—and depend on the Union Nationale of Duplessis to defeat Premier Godbout's Liberal government. Thus the old tactic of 1911 seems to be the new strategy of 1944.

However, no matter how the question of conscription becomes lost in the hurly-burly of practical politics, there is no doubt that the opinions of most Canadians have not changed since the plebiscite of 1942. Conscription is still widely and warmly favored in Canada.

It is true that Australia and South Africa have the same policy as Canada—no conscription for overseas service—and it is equally true that Australia and South Africa, like Canada, have made a magnificent showing in the war. But even these records do not sanctify the iniquity of the voluntary system as a principle.

Voluntary enlistment is in direct opposition to every doctrine of democracy which, while giving equal rights to all men, should demand equal services from all men.

In the United States, where the Rockefeller and the Mellons march in step with the Smiths and the Cohens, in New Zealand where everyone serves alike, in Great Britain where the peer's son lines up with the son of the laborer—here and here only is true and complete democracy shown.

Turkey and the War

The news columns report that conversations are going on in Ankara between representatives of Britain, Turkey and Russia which may lead to the participation of Turkey in the war.

It is said there is considerable bitterness in the latter country over the Allied charge that the Turks had failed to keep their promises with regard to support of the Allies. They make the countercharge that the Allies, in turn, failed to supply the armaments promised to them.

It is believed that once this disagreement is smoothed out, Turkey may be persuaded to declare war on Germany.

There has been a good deal of criticism of efforts to bring Turkey into the conflict at this late date. Critics of the present policy say that any number of neutrals will be willing to mount the Allied bandwagon now that ultimate victory is assured and that to permit these opportunist nations to come in for the final blows at Nazism will be to clutter up the peace conference with greedy delegates whose claims for reward will far exceed their last-minute services.

There is, admittedly, a great deal of truth to this latter assertion. Turkey's course during the past four years has not been admirable. Yet if she does come into the war, she will expect the same concessions as those nations which have suffered from the beginning.

However, there is another way of looking at it.

Turkey's participation, even at this late date, would appreciably shorten the war. And the shorter the war, the fewer will be our casualties.

Surely a few extra embarrassments and minor difficulties at the peace table do not begin to weigh against the value of young Allied lives.

From this viewpoint, the efforts of Russia and Britain to gain active Turkish support will have the blessing of every mother and wife this side of the water.

Avengers Inside Germany

Hitler, it is said, has imported 12,000-000 persons, of both sexes, from occupied countries and set them at work in the Reich. Some of these were no doubt willing conscripts, recruited by Laval in France and by other Nazi stooges in other occupied states. But the great mass were rounded up as "hostages" by Gestapo agents, or herded back to Germany by the military authorities from Poland and Russia.

The information comes from an Associated Press correspondent lately released from a German internment camp. He says the importees died like flies from overwork, mistreatment and under-feeding, but that the survivors make up 40 per cent of the Fuehrer's labor supply. That indicates how thoroughly German industrial ranks have been combed for men to fill the ever recurring gaps in the armies. There cannot on this showing be any considerable per cent of able-bodied Germans still employed in production.

Like Rome in its palmy days, the Reich is now a military power based on alien slave labor. The analogy carries a hint of what is likely to happen when the military power is broken and the enslaved and tortured millions see their chance to exact revenge. German civilians must shudder as they think of what may then happen to them.

But there is no use supposing that this menace will cause the civilian populace to turn against Hitler. Precisely the contrary is probable. However they may hate Hitler for having imported this army of potential avengers, the Germans know that the authority of the Fuehrer is all that stands between them and the horrors of a slave rebellion. For safety sake they will have to support the authority, whatever they think of the cruelty and imbecility that brought the menace into their midst.

T.C.A.'s Atlantic Airmail Service

Millions of Letters Are Rushed Across the Sea Yearly

In 95 crossings of the Atlantic, Lancaster transporters operated by Trans-Canada Air Lines in the Canadian Government's wartime trans-Atlantic service have rushed approximately 30,000,000 letters to and from the forces overseas. With four aircraft in service, three round trips are now made each week between Montreal and the United Kingdom, according to H. J. Symington, C.M.G., K.C., president of T.C.A. Five aircraft, all but one built in Canada, will be in operation this summer. Flights are made direct between Montreal and Scotland, without intermediate stops, and the distance, 3,100 statute miles, has been covered in little more than 11 hours.

The service was designed by the government primarily to speed mails for the Canadian forces overseas, but other freight is carried, parts and equipment of importance to the war effort. No fare-paying passengers are transported but official passengers are sometimes carried. These, designated by the Department of Transport or the office of the Canadian High Commissioner in Great Britain, are representatives of government departments, ranking military officers, technicians and others travelling on urgent war business. At the request of and for the Canadian Government, Trans-Canada Air Lines undertook this wartime operation, its crews augmented by R.C.A.F. personnel. Modification and maintenance of aircraft are the responsibility of T.C.A. engineering staffs at Montreal, also engaged in the conversion, servicing and maintenance of Liberator aircraft used in the return ferry service of the British Overseas Airways Corporation.

Trans-Canada's participation in trans-Atlantic flying began seven years ago, when the air line handled the Canadian arrangements for Imperial Airways, now B.O.A.C. The present trans-Atlantic service operated by T.C.A. for the government was inaugurated on July 22, 1943, with the first eastbound flight by Capt. R. F. George, pioneer T.C.A. pilot, who was later operations manager for the air line. The first westbound flight, July 24, was in charge of Capt. M. B. "Jock" Barclay, another T.C.A. veteran, now operations superintendent for the Atlantic service.

The first aircraft used, numbered T.C.A. 100, and affectionately known to the crews as "the old warhorse," is a Lancaster bomber, built in England and converted to transport use. To it were added T.C.A. 101, T.C.A. 102 and T.C.A. 103, built at Toronto by the government-sponsored Victory Aircraft Limited, and modified for transport service by T.C.A. engineering staffs at Montreal.

The Lancasters have an all-up weight at take-off of 63,000 pounds, can carry 3,200 gallons of fuel and cargoes up to 9,000 pounds. Their wingspan is 102 feet, they are about 75 feet long and nearly 18 feet in height from the ground. They are powered by four Rolls-Royce Packard-built Merlin 38 engines of 1,250 horse-power each.

Some time before the service began, T.C.A. crews were busy familiarizing themselves with the aircraft and the route. Capt. Barclay and another senior pilot, Capt. George Lothian, were granted leave of absence. For three months they took part in the ferrying of bombers across the Atlantic to Britain, under the Royal Air Force Ferry Command. Trans-Canada crews, headed by Barclay, Lothian and Capt. J. Lindsay Rood, now chief pilot in the T.C.A. Atlantic service, were assigned to the B.O.A.C. and they gained much valuable experience flying back and forth across the ocean.

With the acquisition of T.C.A. 100 last year, Capt. Barclay was assigned to explore its capabilities. On several freight flights from Montreal to Goose Bay, the aircraft proved that it could carry great loads on long distances at high speed.

Barclay and his crew flew the Lancaster to England for conversion. Gun turrets, bomb bays and armor plating were removed and two extra gas tanks were installed so that the aircraft could fly 4,000 miles non-stop. Since that time, the aircraft has been substantially modified for transport work by T.C.A. ground crews.

On the first regular flight, July 22, the crossing was made in 12 hours and 26 minutes. This was a record but it has since been broken several times. In January of this year, two of the Lancasters left Montreal four minutes apart and landed in Scotland within two minutes of each other. One plane, carrying 8,207 pounds of mail and 119 pounds of express, made the trip in 11 hours and 16 minutes, breaking the record set in November, 1943, by a B.O.A.C. Liberator. The captain was G. B. Lothian, coming in two minutes later, Capt. Barclay established the record which still stands—11 hours and 14 minutes. His aircraft carried 4,524 pounds of mail and 408 pounds of freight.

The fastest westbound crossing of the Atlantic was made by T.C.A.

Captain R. M. Smith on February 29. It took 12 hours and 59 minutes. The average ground speed made on the record westbound flight was 240 miles an hour. Eastbound, the average was 277 miles an hour.

In summer, the aircraft fly at an average height of 8,000 to 10,000 feet. In winter it is 12,000, with climbs as high as 20,000 feet to rise above weather.

"Routine," is the pilot's description of the ocean crossing. They seldom even see the ocean and they have never had any exciting incidents to report.

Flight crews consist of captain, first officer, navigation officer and radio officer. Captains now in the service are Barclay, who sometimes flies the route, although he has heavy shore responsibilities as operations superintendent; Rood, Lothian, R. M. Smith, P. Kelly Edmiston, J. A. Wright and J. R. Bowker, all veterans of T.C.A. service. This month, T.C.A. will have six complete crews in the Atlantic service, retaining R.C.A.F. navigation officers.

Capt. Barclay was appointed to his present position and Capt. Rood became chief pilot in February of this year. Noel Humphrys is station manager at Montreal and Stanley Hewitt in Great Britain. Charles Palasy is maintenance supervisor and David Tennant, chief engineer at Montreal.

Boasting of Youthful Hardships

Some Men Are Haunted by Early Trials That Are Imaginary

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Mayor La Guardia

has announced the conditions governing gainful summer employment for boys between the ages of 14 and 18 and his personal opposition to all work for hire by those who are under 14. The eligible must obtain official permits and boys under 16 are forbidden to work in shipyards, factories, bowling alleys, liquor establishments, garages, bakeries, laundries, tailor shops and publishing plants.

These restrictions, applied in other days would have hampered and probably would have altered the careers of men now noted for their achievement and proud of their early adventures. Jim Farley, for example, tells us that when he was about 10 years old, his father died from a kick of the family horse, John, which he was hitching to the surrey for the funeral of a neighbor's child, the morning after the wake at Grassy Point. There was little insurance, so, about two years later, Mrs. Farley, with five small dependent children, fought with her last $15,000, a small grocery and saloon. Meanwhile, Jim and his brothers had run errands and sold newspapers.

In his autobiography, Jim wrote that the saloon was not a beer parlor but a saloon in the full meaning of the word and that he, at a tender age, tapped kegs and served drinks of all kinds. This gratuitous candor recalls an interview with Babe Ruth when he was just becoming a national personality in the era of wonderful nonsense. Assigned to do the Babe's autobiography, and coming to the subject of his youth, I facetiously suggested that we just say he had been a boarding student in a Catholic school for boys.

"Hell, no," the Babe said, "it was a reform school." Mr. Farley worked in a brickyard, shoveling sand in a wheelbarrow at the age of 12 and thinks the work was good for him, although today by Mr. La Guardia, he would be forbidden lest he stunt his growth, he being six feet some and La Guardia about four nine.

The mayor's own life story, on the other hand, is poor in early experience and he seems to me to be reaching for an adventure that wasn't really there when he tells of having been an accredited war correspondent at the age of 15 in 1898. He was living on the post at Prescott, Ariz., when the Spanish war broke out and his father, a navy man, was ordered to active service with his regiment. We are invited to believe that the doughty little fellow, alone, found his way from Prescott to St. Louis and there got the job as war correspondent for the Post Dispatch, always, in my time, an exacting paper with high professional standards and no vacation play-room for little boys. But then it develops that he was with his papa at Mobile and Tampa and that Signor La Guardia was

Some years ago, at a large drinking in Palm Beach, a New York professional Irishman and rough diamond was recounting, as he often did, the amusements of the rich, his youthful trials and his life as a wail in the brace newshy's home under the Brooklyn bridge. He had typed himself as an Alger hero and had held many an audience with his memoirs.

On this evening, however, another Irishman from Hell's Kitchen, who had lived neighbor to him in youth, listened quietly and blew him up.

"The truth is," he said, "that this bum had a fine mother who kept a good home and supported her kids by taking in washing when the old man died. But this house was just a natural born sleep-out. He always came home when he got hungry and the reason he ran away was that his mother used to make the kids go to confession and communion. Moreover he didn't want to turn in the money he got selling papers, to help keep the home together. He would spend it on himself till he got broke and then go home to his mother."

Behind the High Wall of Monroe

Argentine Follows in the Footsteps of Its Model Franco

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

More than a century ago President Monroe proclaimed his famous doctrine—no European state must intervene in the affairs of the Western Hemisphere. This doctrine was maintained chiefly by the British navy. But neither President Monroe nor the British navy could prevent the invasion of ideas. Today we see that a deadly invader has crossed the Atlantic ocean, breached the citadel of South America and established itself in Argentina. Fascism, in all its gaudy and familiar trappings, has come to this hemisphere and whatever was left of the theory of isolationism has now been destroyed.

The speeches of the Argentine dictator, Colonel Farrell, and his war minister, Juan Peron, are pure imitation of the masters, Hitler and Mussolini. Army officers are being placed in all government departments and key industrial armament factories are to be built. Drafts are to be raised. A secret document telling all army officers to prepare for the day when Argentina will conquer her neighbors has been revealed. The idea which the Monroe Doctrine and the British navy could not touch as it blew across the ocean is now firmly rooted in South America and grows luxuriantly.

Argentina is Spanish by descent, culture and tradition. Its fascism comes from Spain. Franco is its spiritual father—our dear friend Franco, whom Mr. Churchill has felt constrained to praise. Franco, says Mr. Churchill, did not attack us, therefore we are not concerned with his methods of government. The growth of Franco's methods in Argentina is the answer to this theory of immunity.

The germ cannot be confined to one area, and even though Franco has not attacked us he has spawned great and spreading dangers for us thousands of miles across the sea. As well say that Franco and fascism are not dangerous because they do not attack us as to say that a case of typhoid is not dangerous because the sick man is your brother. The infection is epidemic and blows through the world at will, and neither oceans nor navies can halt it. While Franco postures in friendship for us in Europe after publicly hoping we would lose the war and sending a few bombs in his oranges to England by way of friendly greetings, his spiritual heirs in Argentina prepare to shoot up a continent.

The U.S. minister to Argentina has been brought home for consultation. The United States frowns on Farrell and his strutting gauleiters. Yet in Chicago at the Republican convention, while these things are happening, there are men and women who still say that President Roosevelt dragged his country into the war. There is Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, who says that American boys are dying today in Normandy and on the Pacific islands because between 1893 and

1941 Mr. Roosevelt did not show "skillful and determined statesmanship."

What use to point out that the Republican party wrecked the hope of the world by the betrayal of 1920, when Mr. Roosevelt himself ran for vice-president on a League of Nations platform? What use to point out that the Republicans prevented Mr. Roosevelt building adequate national defenses, denounced his 1937 speech in favor of quarantine aggressors, opposed the repeal of the Neutrality Act and Leand-Lease, and almost succeeded in dissolving the draft army a few months before Pearl Harbor?

What use indeed! All these quarrels and petty politics of the past, all Mrs. Luce's cheap brilliance and all the glorious glamor fade before the light of the sobering fact that fascism is a universal disease which no nation can fight alone, from which no nation can make itself immune, but which will be safe only when it is extinguished everywhere.

The politicians attack the President. The glamor girls scream and wriggle. The mistakes and failures of the past, of which we are all part and all guilty, are regurgitated and chewed over anew, and while everyone is vowing that it can never happen here, the spiritual heirs of little Franco bob up in this hemisphere, thumb their noses at the Monroe Doctrine and inform the United States that fascism is now well established and growing apace beside its own back door.

And for the first time the United States sees that fascism is not the invention of some distant and harmless European maniacs, but a monstrous growth which ripens in its favorable climate, even behind Monroe's garden wall.

From The Winnipeg Tribune

We wonder what the Dominion government meant by the word "necessary" in its famous slogan. Not necessarily conscription, but conscription if necessary.

When, for example, and under what circumstances, would the government apply the last half of that pledge?

The newspapers of Canada carry advertisements from the Dominion government urgently appealing for "G.S." recruits, men and women willing to "go active." The casualty list in Italy, from the time of our first landings there until the fall of Rome, is now published. The number of troops which Canada threw into the Italian front has not been made public but it was very large since we had news of only two divisions in the fighting, and yet Canadian casualties there amounted to 11,450—2,258 dead, 8,572 wounded, and 500 missing. There is no mistaking the seriousness of these casualties.

And now the casualty lists are beginning to come in from Normandy. In fifteen days, 360 Canadians were killed, 1,359 were wounded and 1,093 reported missing.

And the slogan remains: Not necessarily conscription, but conscription if necessary.

What is the present measure of necessity? Here in M.D. 10, the district recruiting officer is placed in the position where he must appeal to older married men to join up and go active—while Canada maintains those seventy thousand Zombies in military idleness as far as the fighting is concerned. The recruiting officer appeals to these older men in a special letter which reads as follows:

Under the existing regulations you, as a married man, are not going to receive a call to go into the Home Defence army for the time being at least. This, however, is a call from the Active army, for you to seriously consider your position as a presumably healthy man who is eligible to volunteer for Active Service at this critical stage of the conflict."

At the same time, in a letter from this same district recruiting officer at M.D. 10, and sent to all men, married or single, who are called up for service, the following statement is made pointedly and with great justice:

"If when you report you elect to be enrolled in the Home Defence army rather than volunteering for the Active army you will be subject to all the discipline and routine of army life but will be rendering no service to your country, in this hour of need."

That is just it. The Zombies are rendering no service to their country and the government which maintains these Zombies in their inactivity is rendering deep disservice to Canada thereby.

Nor is this an isolated appeal. Here in M.D. 10, again, the Reserve army is being combed for men to go active, while no man lays a hand on the Zombie White Elephant army.

We wonder how those Zombie masters of the Dominion government in Ottawa feel when they read the casualty lists, when they read these urgent recruiting appeals for older men to go active? With Premier George Drew, we wonder how they feel when they read of Canadian women in action and in the casualty lists while they themselves maintain some seventy thousand strapping young men, ready trained, some thousands of miles away from the battle.

The Dominion government appeals to the courage of Canadian men and women. Cannot the men and women of Canada appeal to the Dominion government for an equal measure of political courage?

The slogan: "Not necessarily conscription, but conscription if necessary"—invented at the time of the Plebiscite—bore the marks of The Weasel on it from the very start. Today the words begin to gnaw deeper into the national mind. Will the government flaunt the brand? The Weasel to the end? Will it weasel on the meaning of necessity? If it does it must give an accounting to our dead and to the living whom they leave behind.

It is not the policy of the U.S. and British governments that their armies . . . shall be used to impose upon France any particular military leader, but rather to make sure that the will of the masses of the French people, expressed under conditions of freedom, shall decide upon the future government of their country.—Winston Churchill.

Persevere in silence. Remember the enemy employs all tricks and artifices to obtain a leverage with which he may be able to crush German morale. We must be wiser than he.—Dr. Joseph Goebbels.

When our supply of Chinese money gave out and the natives were unimpressed by our American dollars we hit on the brilliant idea of trying to sell our empty tin ration cans. We were almost mobbed and we disposed of our entire supply at 15 Chinese dollars apiece, netting us 1700 Chinese dollars in two hours.—Lieut. Dead mustered out in August and returned to Jefferson barracks, which is in St. Louis. He wore a little soldier-suit in the photograph of the boy war correspondent and looked real cute, but suspicion persists that this was just a summer vacation war and we are left hungry for samples of the pieces filed to the P-D by the young genius.

R. Love, in China.

SIDE GLANCES

"Two of the boys Marjorie has been writing those soft letters to happened to come back to town at the same time!"

You can check back on Farley's story, not that you feel any need to.

Some men think up the damnedest early hardships and adventures for themselves. George Berry, the president of the Pressmen's Union, for years was known in recurrent newspaper biographies as a homeless boy who, among other adventures in wayfaring, had won the national amateur lightweight boxing championship.

This reputation may have helped him some in winning bloodless decisions over irresolute opponents in union politics, for most laymen hesitate to trade punches with one who has had ring experience, even in the amateurs. But the truth is that there was no such championless boy who named and placed and there was names and places and other details. Similarly, Earl Browder, our chief Communist, can't remember a single incident of his alleged career as a professional ballplayer in Kansas and Nebraska, which seems very un-American.

Some years ago, at a large drinking in Palm Beach, a New York professional Irishman and rough diamond was recounting, as he often did, the amusements of the rich, his youthful trials and his life as a wail in the brace newshy's home under the Brooklyn bridge. He had typed himself as an Alger hero and had held many an audience with his memoirs.

400 Baby Chicks Arrive at Therien

GLENDALE.—A few days ago a consignment of more than 400 baby chicks arrived at Therien for a consignment at Bordenave. The agent did not know the consignor so he returned the chicks to Edmonton. They then returned, being put off at this station. The agent here was unable to locate the consignor by telephone or otherwise and was forced to dispose of them locally. More than half of them were dead.

Govt. Bank Balance $8,000,000 in Sask.

REGINA, July 13.—(CP)—A bank balance of more than $8,000,000 in the credit of the Saskatchewan government was left by Premier W. J. Patterson's Liberal administration when it relinquished office to Premier T. C. Douglas' C.C.F. government Monday, according to a review of the record of his government contained in a statement released to the press Wednesday by Mr. Patterson.

Cash in the Saskatchewan education fund totalled more than $3,500,000 representing almost one year's revenue from the education tax. The balance in that fund would enable the C.C.F. government to immediately abolish the education tax and give it one year to locate the "alternate sources of revenue which it has announced are to replace it," said former premier Patterson.

The government bank account, or consolidated fund, had a credit balance of $8,275,000 and of that amount $3,430,000 was credited to the education fund. There were no outstanding accounts payable except those incurred from day to day in the ordinary conduct of public business, and no future revenues of the province were pledged or hypothecated, according to the former premier's statement.

But the ostrich-like policy of pretending that military security is involved in the problem is either hypocrisy or military confusion. Nothing is gained by posing the American desire for certain islands as a military affair. On the contrary it only serves to muddy our military planning for the years ahead.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

RELIEF pitchers would go the way of the dodo bird, if all chuckers performed in the approved Bob Sawyer fashion. The Signallers' lefty has started and completed four games, pitching 37 innings in the process of marking up his quartet of wins. Bob also did a couple of frames of fire duty and he has yielded just three earned runs and struck out 34.

Lieutenant Archer will be without his ace pitcher-first baseman for the next month for Sawyer is now on his way home on furlough. Bob went hitless for the second time in 13 games on Tuesday, and he had connected only once in four trips the previous night. However his average isn't suffering very much for it is just a modest .396.

Tommy Brant, the only other pitcher in the League with four victories and with an unblemished record up to last night, has worked a total of 35 innings, giving up 10 earned runs and striking out 23. Brant has walked 11, as compared to eight by Sawyer.

SNAPPY WORK IN OUTFIELD

DICK NOON claimed most of the glory in the outfield last night, chieftain through his circus catch of Ed Schisser's smash in the fifth, but the same Mr. Schisser continued his useful work in centre and now has 31 putouts, a pair of assists and just one slip. Ab Superstein made a nifty save on Jim Junker's drive in the eighth.

Lester Nelson, one of the most consistent hitters in the senior loop and now with an average of .309, kept up his brilliant work at third. He went to the fence for Claude Hensley's foul tip in the first inning. Nelson ranks amongst the top defensive players in the league.

Joe Shandro climbed on Sawyer for a double and a triple and picked up another base ball to hoist his total for the year to 12. Bert Culver collected two walks and now has 11. Mel Ottom drew a blank in five trips to the plate, the same as Sawyer.

Fitz-Gerald Outstanding

"M" Depot Captures Service Track Meet

By DON KILLIPS

PACED by the combined efforts of Con Fitz-Gerald, Andy Stevenson, and Frank Judge, No. 3 "M" Depot collected a total of 61 points Wednesday night to capture team honors in the War Services Council track and field meet at Clarke stadium.

Fitz-Gerald, who hails from Saskatoon, turned in an outstanding showing by leaping 20 feet, 9½ inches in the running broad jump and covering the 440 in 56 seconds to account for 10 of the winners' total. The Airman also gave a good account of himself in the last track meet and his broad jump last night was an outstanding one.

Cpl. Ted Plotnik of the U.S. A.A.F. from Brooklyn was the only other competitor to come first in more than one event. He specialized in sprinting and out-classed the field in both the 100 yards dash and the 220. Plotnik turned in two very good times, 102.5 seconds for the 100 and 22 seconds for the 220, considering the cool weather and that spikes were not used.

Coleman Bower of Perth, West Australia won the second heat in the 100 in 102.5 seconds, but failed to beat Plotnik in the final. Plotnik's time in the first heat was 11 seconds.

U.S.A.A.F. SECOND

The U.S.A.A.F. representatives came second in the team standing with 42 points. No. 4 I.T.S. third with 13 and Westsaskatoon Army finished up with three. Individual cups, donated by the War Services Council, were presented to the winners of each event and medals to those finishing second. Team trophies went to the winners of the tug-of-war and medley relay.

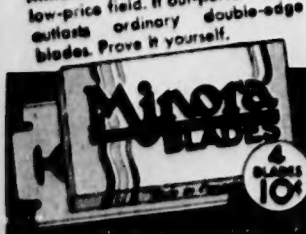

In addition to Fitz-Gerald's winning broad jump, Pvt. Weldon Snow of the U.S.A.A.F. from Fort Worth, Texas leaped 19 feet, 5½ inches to make that event one of the best on the program.

Sgt. Andy Stevenson of Vancouver and AC2 Frank Judge of Winnipeg, "M" Depot's other two outstanding athletes each won a first and a second. Stevenson took the tug-of-war and medley relay. The tug-of-war was won by Hugh McMillan of "M" Depot who calls Neumuch, Central India his home town.

Judge won the high jump with a good effort to out-class Pvt. Snow at five feet, 4½ inches and ran second to AC2 G. McMillan, another Winnipegger, in the mile cinder grind. The boys found

Only Game and Half Separate First Three Clubs; Brant Beaten

Signallers Flag Leading Dodgers 8-2

Sawyer Now Top Pitcher With 4 Wins

By HAL DEAN

ALTHOUGH still in third place, the U.S. Signallers are only a game and half from the Dodgers as a result of the 8-2 package handed the Senior Baseball League leaders at Renfrew Park on Wednesday night.

And by virtue of last night's result, Bob Sawyer today is the top pitcher in the circuit with four straight wins. Al Walker of Yanks is also undefeated, but with three in a row. Up to Tuesday, Tommy Brant had marked up four triumphs without a reverse.

Signallers downed the Dodgers when they counted twice in the seventh, after securing two runs to knot the score at 2-2 in the fifth. Brant had given up only four hits in the first six innings, but the Signallers got to him for a quartet of safe knocks in the seventh in building up their two-run margin.

Pat Priest, on the pitching staff of the Yanks in 1943, took over from Brant in the eighth and three walks, a pair of errors and a couple of hits yielded four additional counters.

Lester Nelson went over to the fence to take Claude Hensley's foul for the first out last night, but Dodgers could not deny the run column. Dick Noon dropped one over second, too close in for Schisser to field and went on to the middle station as Mel Ottom was being tossed out, Nelson to Hacker.

Ralph Morgan, then slammed out the first of four hits for the run.

Signals got two on in their half. Dan Hackler singled to centre with one down and he went on to third when Nelson slashed the ball into the same field.

Hensley and Morgan hit for Dodgers in the third, but Sawyer stopped the party there. Chuck Henderson's squad took a 2-0 lead in the fifth. Hensley was safe on Hackler's error and Noon sacrificed. Ottom was a strikeout victim, but Morgan, always dangerous with ducks on, clubbed a double into left sending Hensley over.

Signallers bounced back to dead-end count in their half. Sammy Araps opened with a terrific drive over Noon's head, which only by smart work on the part of the Dodgers' left gardener was held to two bases. Ed Schisser followed with a smash into deep left and Noon made a sensational running catch. Araps taking third on the throw.

Culver walked and Araps came in on a passed ball. Hackler's second single sent Culver to third from where he scored on Nelson's flyout to Superstein.

Wask started the seventh with a scratch single to short and he advanced on a passed ball. Araps struck out, but Schisser hit safely and so did Hackler for one run and Schisser crossed the plate when Nelson doubled.

Dodgers had a man on third in the sixth, seventh and eighth. Shandro clipped Sawyer for a double in the seventh and a triple in the eighth, but each time expired on third.

Priest took over in the eighth and walked Junker, first man up. He got Jim Kelly at first, but Wask hit safely and Junker came in on wild pitch.

Araps whiffed, but walks to Schisser and Culver, four stolen bases, two errors by Williams and Hackler's fourth hit netted four runs.

Thompson Hurls Four-Hitter

League Leading Walk-Rites Hand Pats 8-1 Trouncing

The league-leading Walk-Rite "A" club turned back the Army and Navy Pats in the City Girls' Fastball loop again Wednesday night when they handed the latter an 8-1 trouncing on Annabelle Thompson's four-hit pitching at Kingsway Park. Bombardier defaulted to Walk-Rite "B" in the opener of the scheduled doubleheader.

The Walk-Rites got two runs in the first and three in the second to set the stage for an easy victory over their chief rivals whose only run came in their last time at bat.

Thompson's hurling held the Pats scoreless for six frames and during that time she struck out four batters and only walked two in chucking her four-hitter. Mary Verena started for the losers, but was relieved after the third by Jean Stewart. Verena allowed three safeties in her short time on the mound and Stewart finished up by holding the Walk-Rites to four hits and three runs.

Only one extra base hit came in the game and that was a double through third by Jean Dainault in the fourth that drove in two Walk-Rite runs.

Wakefield Back

DETROIT, July 13.—(AP)—Detroit Tigers announced Wednesday the signing of Dick Wakefield, who recently received an honorable discharge from the navy. Wakefield will play left field today in a twilight game against the Chicago White Sox.

Mrs. Jones will compete in the women's diving, Miss Speck in the junior ladies' events, and Hay in the junior men's events.

New Mexico has lived under five rules—Indian, Spanish, Mexican, Confederacy and United States.

While Yet Yoo won the double others punters who wagered on Man of Iron were in luck as he paid $83.60 to win, $32.85 to place and $22 to show.

Always near the pace the son of Amsterson-May Ella shook off Noble King's bid then withstood Yoville's closing rush to win by three-quarters of a length. Noble King was another length back in third place.

Jockey Freddy Solomon led the riding brigade during the afternoon with three triumphs while Jumbo Kelly got two.

H. P. Streeter and Lloyd Powley shared saddling honors with two winners each.

The quinella of Nancy Sue and Kelley Somers returned $27.15.

Drever shot a 40 out and 44 in to register a gross count of 84. His handicap was 15.

Leroy Goldsworthy and Ingy Cameron both posted a 70 for low gross, but Goldsworthy took the prize when he won the toss. Hildenhole contest went to Bill Ingram, who had a nine on the 165 yards 16th.

There were about 50 competitors and Clayton Dolighan, president of the E.A.C., presented the prizes. Amby Allard was in charge of the competition.

Night World Series Games Definitely Out for 1944

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(AP)—Night world series games may be just around the corner but baseball men streaming out of town today agreed 1944 definitely was not the time.

Although the major leagues agreed to unlimited after-dark play every day except Sunday at their joint convention before Tuesday night's National League 7-1 all-star triumph, none of the clubs are considering an "owl ball" classic in October.

The St. Louis Cardinals and Browns who pace the majors but suffer at the box office will turn on the lights for the rest of the season but will play in the sunshine if an all-Sportsman's park series should result.

"Why think about night world series games if you can pack the park in the daytime?" queried President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals.

Brownie officials were more concerned with the possibility of breaking their record of never winning a pennant.

Despite the loss of George Mauer who entered the service Tuesday and Max Lanier's arm trouble, the Cardinals were rated a "shoo-in" by all hands. Even Breadon admitted it was nice to be able to give Lanier a rest without worrying too much.

Kavanaugh Tennis Event on Friday

The men's doubles team of "Shorts" Purcell-Percy Edmunds put their provincial crown, and Kavanaugh trophy in the ring again on Friday at 6:30 at the Glenora courts against the civil service pair of Bob Hall and Carl Farvolden.

Considerable interest is shown in this match as the Civil Service Club are pinning their hopes on

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO, July 13.—(CP)—Bowling on the green is as British as roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, but about the only place in Canada where the game is in the big-time category is on the west coast. Where the game never advances beyond the friendly little competition in other parts, on the coast it's of tournament calibre.

The British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association is holding its 22nd annual roll, or bowl if you prefer, from July 17 to 22 with entries from all over the Canadian and United States west. Teams from points as widely separated as Calgary, Edmonton, Kamloops, Nanaimo, Prince Rupert, Seattle and California will compete in the event, said to be the biggest and best of its kind on the continent.

In the good old Drake tradition, the bowlers probably need an ocean to overlook, accounting for the game's popularity on the coast.

Just to show it isn't a young man's game either, the Oakland, Cal., rink grosses a total age of 321 years. The bowlers are 78, 87, 75 and 81 but still mighty keen on the hooks and curves.

Here and there: Just to show that night sports really are the game of the future, the Hall-Farvolden pair, who both hail from across the border, according to reports they are very capable exponents of the game, and considered strong doubles players.

Great Catch

In addition to scoring the Dodger's initial run and poking out the first single at Renfrew last night, Dick Noon pulled the most spectacular save of the season when he snared the ball almost at the fence in deep left, on Ed Schirer's drive in the fifth inning. Sammy Araps was on second at the time, having just doubled.

J. P. Fitzgerald of the Toronto Telegram points out the great success of the harness racing circuit meet at Roosevelt track in the U.S. though followers of the trotters and pacers are by no means a very numerous company, an average of more than 3,000 nightly paid their way into the track for the 38-night meet.

Phil Palmer, only Vancouver professional boxer now in the active ranks, is making a comeback in U.S. rings after being honorably discharged from the navy.

Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara reports that Tommy Gorman is cooking up plans for a race meet at Connaught Park, deserted these past few years because of lack of entries. New Westminster's lacrosse Salmonbellies reportedly aren't getting much attention from the fickle fans, who evidently are tired of seeing champions so much.

Alberta Cowboy Takes Top Money Calgary Stampede

CALGARY, July 13.—(CP)—An Alberta cowboy, Waldo (Salty) Ross of Warner, yesterday afternoon met and bested the stiffest competition the rodeo world has to offer when he rode to top day money in the North American championship saddle bronk riding competition at the Calgary exhibition and stampede.

FO. Eddie Fraser, Clarendon, Alta., just returned from a tour of operations overseas with the R.C.A.F., was taken to hospital suffering from internal injuries after being thrown against a fence by a horse while competing in the barrel riding competition.

Attendance figures for the day—third of the show and "Citizens' Day"—again topped previous records. Altogether 42,243 persons attended, an increase of 4,000 over the same day a year ago.

At the night grandstand show, wild, spontaneous cheering broke out when it was announced Russian officers were in the crowd. The Russians—whose names cannot be divulged for security reasons—rose in their box and bowed their acknowledgement of the ovation.

The chuck-wagon team entry of Charlie Lundeth, Bowden, Alta., won the day money for the "Rangeland Derby," beating out the champion, Dick Cosgrave, Rousebud, Alta.

Sorrell to Coach Capitals Again

INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—(AP)—Johnny Sorrell, who joined the Indianapolis American League hockey team last year as a playing coach, has signed again to coach the Capitals for the 1944-45 season. It was announced last night Sorrell formerly played with the Hershey (Pa.) Bears of the same league.

Dick Miller, general manager of the club, said the Capitals would again train with Detroit Red Wings of the National League at Windsor, Ont.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Five or six years hence, baseball players will be recognized immediately in any crowd by their pallor. They will be distinguished as readily as were old time gamblers of Abilene, Dodge City and Tombstone—men who never saw the sun.

Harold Neuman was unanimously elected president of the Aircraft Repair Tennis Club recently at a meeting held at the Victoria school courts.

Other officials of the new club include vice-president, Jim Moore, secretary-treasurer, Agnes Street, and the special committee will consist of John Shandow and Crag Davies. Jim Morrison is the organizer.

park cabaret, the diamond night club—which will provide an added attraction for the guys and gals who may wish to spill off a couple of doll innings with a refreshing rumble, or celebrate the home team's victory with a hotcha conga line.

In the polo grounds cocktail lounge, for example, one of the fans in evening gown might enquire of her tuxedo escort: "Who is that pallid, black haired chap over there, dancing with the blond?"

And the escort might say, "Why—that's Pepper Pinkham, the Cardinal's shortstop."

"Oh—I do wish he was on our team; he's so cute—and he tangoes so divinely."

That's the future we see little of the sun.

WITH baseball definitely going under the lights, we can foresee another innovation—the ball

Wide Choice For Possible CBC Position

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—If the Commons radio committee, now preparing their annual report, endorses a suggestion to split Canadian Broadcasting Corporation executive authority to provide a full-time salaried chairman, the board of governors will have a wide range of material among employees from which to make a selection.

Rene Morin, K.C., recently-retired part-time chairman and now a member of the board, suggested the big job of controlling Canadian radio should be apportioned so that a full-time salaried chairman would have charge of policy and a general manager have charge of administration.

Mr. Morin, manager of a trust company in Montreal and whose three-year term of office as a governor expires Nov. 1, 1945, was recently succeeded as chairman by Howard B. Chase of Montreal, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Mr. Chase's term as governor also ends Nov. 1, 1945.

FILLED BY FRIGON

The post of general manager has been filled temporarily by Dr. August Frigon, assistant general manager, since Dr. J. S. Thomson returned to his post as president of the University of Saskatchewan last December.

In radio circles here it was recalled Mr. Morin, in his letter of resignation as chairman, said pressure of personal work demanded an ever increasing amount of his time and hence it was taken for granted he was not in the running for the post.

With Mr. Chase's energy largely devoted to his union activity it was not known if he would desire the C.B.C. full-time chairmanship. Three governors whose terms end this November are J. W. Godfrey, K.C., a Halifax lawyer; Dean Adrien Pouliot of the faculty of science at Laval University, Quebec City; and Very Rev. W. E. Fuller, dean of the Anglican cathedral Saskatoon, Sask.

TERM ENDS IN 1945

The term of office of Mrs. T. W. Sutherland, one of the publishers of the Revelstoke, B.C. Review and only woman governor, expires Nov. 1, 1945.

Of the remaining three governors, F. J. Crawford, the Toronto stock broker, completes his term Nov. 1, 1945. W. H. Parker of Winnipeg, president of a pool elevator, completes his term Feb. 3, 1947 and B. K. Sandwell, editor of the Toronto Saturday Night, who has been mooted as possible choice for the full-time post, completes his term March 24, 1947.

Salvationist Dies

TORONTO, July 13.—(CP)—An officer in the Salvation Army for 47 years, Maj. George Weir, 76, died here Monday.

Ends Course

Lt. Lyle R. Hoar, R.C.N.V.R., who has completed a Royal Canadian Navy command course at Halifax, prior to enlistment he was administrator of estates for the National Trust Company here. Joining the Navy in 1940 he served on convoy escort ships and was second in command of H.M.C.S. Port Arthur when it sank a German submarine in the Mediterranean. He is a widely known golf and badminton star. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hoar live at 10100 125 street. His wife at present is living at Bridgewater, N.S.

B.C. Plans North Road, Rail Links

VANCOUVER, July 13.—(CP)—In a radio address last night over a B.C. network Premier John Hart said the coalition government had decided to build a highway into the Peace River area and expressed hope arrangements would be made to extend the Pacific Great Eastern railway to the Peace.

Pointing to the vast area and great natural resources in the Peace River district, Premier Hart said "so far the development brought about by construction of the Alaska Highway benefits Alberta and eastern points. The new road will give an outlet to the coast... and retain for... British Columbia the benefit of development of the great resources."

After careful consideration of various possible routes, the public works department had recommended that a road be built from Prince George to Dawson Creek via Summit Lake, McLeod Lake, thence by Pine Pass add Compton Creek, a distance of 274 miles.

But a highway was not enough. "A railway connection will be necessary and it is hoped that in the not distant future arrangements may be made for extension of the Pacific Great Eastern railway to that section of the province," he said.

The Mayans smoked pipes about 2,000 years ago.

Douglas Sees More Hostility To C.C.F. Party

REGINA, July 13.—(CP)—Premier T. G. Douglas told the annual convention of the Saskatchewan section C.C.F. here yesterday that "we can expect to incur the hostility of the propagandists, who are on the back and call of the vested interests."

"We can expect the federal government, if we may judge by its past records, will continue to place property rights beyond human rights." He said there is every likelihood courts will continue to interpret legislation in terms of the past rather than in terms of a changing world.

MUST GAIN STRENGTH

"It is going to be necessary for us to build a stronger organization. We must begin now with a view to expanding a beachhead so that next government at Ottawa will be a C.C.F. government and the next prime minister will be M. J. Coldwell."

Mr. Douglas said by having a newspaper and radio station "the point of view of our movement and the policies of the peoples' government may be made near to the belief without distortion and misrepresentation."

The premier praised those who aided in electing the first C.C.F. administration in the Dominion.

CARRY OUT PROGRAM

The Saskatchewan C.C.F. program "will be carried out and there will be no deviation from the program drawn up by you and the people in the convention assembly."

In aiming for an administration "by the people for the people," Mr. Douglas said the C.C.F. propose to dispense with some of the government boards and place responsibilities in the hands of trained civil servants, who will be responsible to the ministers.

He warned his cabinet that no member should consider he has a life job or a job even for four years because "if any man isn't serving the best interests of the people I would not hesitate to ask for that man's resignation."

At the convention of more than 300 delegates where party policy is decided, Mr. Douglas said "We hold the destiny of the socialistic movement on this continent. If we fail, or are negligible, the movement of the people will suffer reverses."

URGES EXPANSION

In his presidential address, provincial treasurer C. M. Fines also urged expansion of C.C.F. organization in the province. "This is not the time for gloating over the C.C.F. victory in the provincial election."

Mr. Fines, in the provincial council report, said membership had increased. In April, May and June last year 4,781 new memberships were recorded compared with 13,825 new members for the same period of 1944. In Saskatchewan there are 16 unions affiliated with the C.C.F.

The "Saskatchewan Commonwealth" the party's newspaper, had increased its circulation to 24,000 and now is published weekly instead of semi-monthly, Mr. Fines said.

ULTIMATE GOAL

He said the ultimate goal of the party was to establish a Co-operative Commonwealth in the Dominion.

Mr. Fines urged party supporters to "re-dedicate ourselves anew" so that sacrifices in the war shall not be in vain.

"The democratic way of life shall be made to serve all humanity."

Church Protests Bill to Deprive Japanese of Vote

TORONTO, July 13.—(CP)—The national interchurch advisory committee on resettlement of Japanese Canadians yesterday released a copy of a letter sent to members of parliament protesting what they termed "the injustice of the passing of Section 5 of Bill 135" which would disfranchise all Canadian citizens of the Japanese race.

The bill now is before parliament. Signed by Rev. Dr. George Dorey of the United Church of Canada, Canon W. M. Judd of the Church of England, and Rev. A. E. McQuillen of the Toronto Roman Catholic diocese, Rev. C. H. Schult of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, and Rev. E. H. Johnson of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the letter tells of the co-operation of Japanese-Canadians after the start of the Pacific war.

"It seems to us absolutely unfair to put on the backs of these Canadian Japanese—particularly of the guiltless Canadian-born young people among them—responsibility for the actions of the military clique in Tokyo," the letter said.

Nurse Training Tax Concessions Urged by House

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—Stanley Knowles (C.P.—Winnipeg North Centre) and Hon. R. E. Hanson (P.C.—York-Sunbury) urged last night in the Commons that a taxpayer be granted taxation concessions for a daughter training to be a nurse, in the same way as exemptions were granted for young people who were students.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said nurses, unlike students, were employed for a full year and could not earn extra money during vacations as students might. If nurses broke a thermometer or other equipment they had to pay for it and might find the actual allowance made for their services insufficient to meet their expenses.

Finance Minister Bailey said that board and lodging was provided for the nurses, and they could not be considered as dependents.

Canadians Ignore German Shells As Battle Flag Raised in Caen

By WILLIAM STEWART

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN CAEN, July 13.—(CP)—The Canadian battle flag was raised in Caen yesterday in front of the troops who helped to capture this city, the first in France entered and fought for by Canadians.

The red standard with its Union Jack and coat-of-arms was unfurled from a white flagpole just before noon by RSM. George Ruthford, of Galt, Ont.

The troops, who presented arms in a general salute, lined the dusty square in three rows and ignored German shells that whistled over their heads every five or six minutes.

Immediately after the salute the flag was lowered and presented to the young Canadian commander whose troops drove the enemy from the west part of Caen in street skirmishes. A second flag was then raised, and it will fly during the Canadian occupation.

(The name of the "young Canadian commander" was not given in this dispatch.)

out of politics and establish it upon a basis of merit.

In a 30-minute broadcast over a provincial CBC network, Mr. Douglas also promised government action to abolish political patronage in transaction of government business by setting up a purchasing board.

PROMISE PROTECTION

"We also promised the people security in their homes and protection for those who have honestly tried to meet their financial obligations but found themselves, for reasons beyond their control, unable to do so. This will mean putting certain legislation on the statute books at a session of the legislature which may be especially called for that purpose," he said.

The premier did not indicate legislation in prospect, but warned mortgage companies that if they seek to crowd the people unnecessarily "we will not hesitate to take very stringent measures to guarantee our people security."

Mr. Douglas urged listeners to communicate immediately with the mediation board at Regina if they find a mortgage company or other lending institution has secured permission to foreclose. "This board is being given additional personnel which we feel certain will give fair and impartial treatment to every case brought to its attention."

MUST PAY IF CAN

The C.C.F. stand is that those who can pay should do so, "but we intend to protect those who cannot pay their debts or those who have already paid them once or twice over," the premier said.

"If the mediation board finds a debtor is unable to pay and that the creditors are unreasonable, then the board will recommend to the government that the debtor be protected until the mortgage company is prepared to accept some more equitable settlement."

The premier said a new society could not be created immediately but can be created by going forward step by step, and said his administration has no intention of doing things merely for "the doubtful notoriety of getting into newspaper headlines."

He urged Saskatchewan people to co-operate and give advice, adding the C.C.F. might make mistakes "but we will never sell you down the river."

RULE BY COMMISSION

Mr. Douglas charged that Saskatchewan has had government by commission instead of by responsible ministers. Work had been delegated to some 13 boards and commissions. "We are opposed to government by commissions."

"We shall proceed to restore ministerial responsibility as quickly as possible."

C.C.F. May Appeal Cannington Vote

REGINA, July 13.—(CP)—Provincial treasurer C. M. Fines of Regina, president of the Saskatchewan section C.C.F., explained to the annual convention yesterday the technicality that prevented the recount of ballots in Cannington constituency after the June 15 provincial election and indicated possible action for an appeal because of "irregularities in voting."

Mrs. Gladys Strum, C.C.F. candidate defeated in Cannington by the then premier, Hon. W. J. Patterson, by six votes, said in an interview earlier she would not appeal the ruling of District Judge J. H. McFadden, who stated he had no jurisdiction to preside at a recount.

Judge McFadden found that Mrs. Strum failed to provide proof that the parties concerned had been served notice of the place and time for the recount.

Mr. Fines in an interview later said the alleged irregularities were that one poll remained open one hour after polls closed at 5 p.m., and at several polls soldiers and soldiers' wives entitled to vote allegedly had been refused permission to cast ballots.

Troops to Wear Wound Stripes

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—Defence headquarters announced last night that personnel of the Canadian (Active) Army who have suffered wounds or injuries by enemy action in the present war are entitled to wear a gold wound stripe titled to wear in the service who were wounded in the First Great War may wear a red stripe. Regulations covering the wearing of similar stripes for wounds were issued some months ago for R.C.N. and R.C.A.F. personnel. The announcement said the wound stripes were not to be considered as an award.

U.S. Casualties On Saipan Isle Number 15,053

PEARL HARBOR, July 13.—(AP)—Conquest of strategic Saipan island in the western Pacific cost 15,053 American casualties—2,380 killed, 11,481 wounded and 1,213 missing—Navy Secretary Forrestal announced yesterday in Washington.

This total, the highest of any single ground action in the Pacific, was far exceeded by the losses inflicted on the Japanese garrison, 11,948 of whom already had been buried.

MAJORITY KILLED

Mr. Forrestal said "probably 95 per cent" of the defending force, estimated at more than 20,000 died in the futile defence of Saipan. That island is within bombing range of Tokyo and already is being used by American fighter planes.

The casualty report followed quickly an announcement here that Japanese prisoners of war on Saipan already exceeded 1,000. That also was a record for any single campaign in the Pacific.

New carrier task force strikes Monday at Guam and Rota, in the Marianas south of Saipan, were reported by Admiral Nimitz, United States Pacific fleet commander. These attacks rounded out nearly a week of sustained action, suggestive of pre-invasion softening up, against those islands.

BITTER FIGHTING

Although organized resistance on Saipan had ended last Saturday, there was bitter fighting when isolated enemy groups were located. One marine regiment alone killed 711 Nipponese troops Monday in mopping up activities.

Brigadier Mess Makes New Plea For Volunteers

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—Brig. James Mess, deputy adjutant-general in charge of recruiting, said last night that it was not only his duty but his right to approach a civilian to join the Canadian Army as a volunteer. "And I feel I have an equal if not greater right to tell the Natural Resources Mobilization Act (home defence) soldier that his duty lies in service overseas."

"I shall continue to exercise that right at every opportunity, and to urge all general service personnel, officers, N.C.O.s and men to do likewise," Brig. Mess said in an address over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

SPOKE OF NEEDS

"The day after D-Day I spoke over this program of the army's need for volunteers and of its continued need. I appealed to the several classes of young men in Canada—men who had taken refuge behind petticoats and who were clinging to apron strings—to say to themselves, 'Is my conscience clear?'"

"Tonight I am speaking to every man and woman—to every Canadian citizen. Especially do I speak to those who over the last few weeks have sympathized with me for being asked to influence N.R.M.A. soldiers to enlist for general service. I have not been asked—and I need no sympathy."

Brig. Mess added that criticisms by those who have "berated" him and termed his methods of appeal "coercive" hinder rather than help the army or Canada's war effort.

MUST BE BLUNT

"Tonight I must be blunt—not only with you men who are, and know you are—evading the issue but with the men and women who sympathize with you and influence you in this line of least resistance excuse—the men and women who provide the umbrella under which you hide."

"These people who misguide you should determine now to stop exercising their prejudices and start helping arouse public opinion to the point where all red-blooded Canadians will join the crusade in bringing to the army as volunteers, every man who is fit to fight and willing to fight."

Body of Missing Royal Navy Man Found in Harbor

HALIFAX, July 13.—(CP)—Weighted down with rocks stuffed into coat pockets, a body recovered from Halifax harbor yesterday was tentatively identified as that of Cmdr. F. M. Johnson of the Royal Navy who is believed to have killed his young daughter and himself here last December.

Police recovered the body in the northwest arm just off the boat-house where 10-year-old Nadia Johnson had been found dead Dec. 3, her skull smashed with an axe. The father disappeared at the same time and police believed he was crazed at the news that his wife had been permanently crippled in an accident at New York City.

Claim "Clique" Sought Control Of Tory Party

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—The Ottawa Evening Citizen in a newspaper story, yesterday said a Progressive Conservative party caucus has discussed "alleged attempts of a Toronto clique" to gain control of the party and dominate John Bracken, national leader.

The story said Bracken supporters scored an "overwhelming victory" over the Toronto clique in party office elections and added that the leader had the support of all but two or possibly three party members in the Commons.

The story said: "Members of the party have complained in and out of caucus that the Toronto clique, including Premier George Drew and George McCullagh, publisher of the Globe and Mail, have ambitions to dictate the policy of the party, to use John Bracken as a figurehead. This charge was made flatly and clearly in party caucus this week."

"When faced with this current rumor, Mr. Bracken said: 'I have heard of no such rumor and I have no reason to think there is any basis for it in fact. It is scarcely necessary to say that the party I lead is not only a national party but a democratic party and being such no section or group of the nation will be permitted to dominate its activities.'"

TO AID FISHERMEN

LONDON.—(CP)—A necklace of 64 diamonds realized $3,800 at a benefit sale for the Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen.

The Canadian colonel heading the staff said yesterday that civil affairs aims to hand over administration to the French authorities as soon as they are competent to handle all administrative duties, and in Caen this is being done surprisingly rapidly.

"The French are co-operating beautifully and the help we give them is thankfully received," the colonel said.

Even before the city fell to British and Canadian troops, the French in this area had ready a relief plan which began to function as soon as the Germans were cleared out.

The Canadians say there is no great medical problem in the city, although in one hospital there are 600 civilian casualties as well as 12 British and six wounded Germans. Neither is there a great food problem in the city. According to civil affairs authorities, considerable relief food has been brought in by the army and the French have augmented this ration with vegetables and dairy products from local farmlands.

The refugee problem is far less serious than expected and the French themselves are handling it efficiently.

VANCOUVER, July 13.—(CP)—Charged for the third time with failing to report as required by enemy aliens, Leo Dusowsky, 65, a German, was sentenced to six months in jail by Magistrate W. W. B. He apparently had no intention of complying with the regulations, Mr. Scott said.

THE QUESTION
What do you think of the city's making a grant to the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association to assist in providing a program of supervised summer activities for the children in that district?

THE ANSWERS
MRS. WILLIAM KERRY, housewife: This is a very good idea. I think an organization like this finds it hard to continue functioning without the support of the city.

MRS. ANNE SOLASCHUK, housewife: I have three school-age children. Last summer it was difficult over the long holiday to find enough to keep them busy and happy. I certainly wish something like that had been started in our district. It is very wise for the city to assist and support such organizations.

J. A. WELSH, milkman: There should be more organizations like this and the city giving a grant to this one should encourage other districts to do the same thing. I see many children running around with no place to go and not enough to do to keep them out of mischief during the summer. I think it is a very good idea.

Member Special Assault Force Is Back from Italy Fighting

A member of the famous Canadian-American 1st Special Force of assault troops, which played an important role in the fighting in Italy, Sgt. H. I. Macrae arrived back in the city Wednesday night.

Severely wounded when he stepped on a land mine on the Anzio beachhead he was invalided home after spending several weeks in hospital in Italy and England.

Both legs were injured and he received a cut over his right eye and his left hand was lacerated. His left foot was badly shattered and is still in a cast but he says he thinks it's "going to be okay."

"It was kind of a funny coincidence," he said, "because the day it happened, May 8, was exactly two years to the day that I joined the army."

The assault troops are specially trained for mountain fighting, beach landings and paratroop work. Sgt. Macrae took part in the bitter mountain fighting leading up to the Allied capture of the town of Cassino and then was transferred to the Anzio beachhead.

Born in Manitoba he received his schooling in Calgary and now makes his home in Edmonton. The 22-year-old sergeant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Macrae, 9640 110 avenue.

He enlisted in May, 1942 and received his training with the assault troops in Montana, Virginia and Vermont. He took part in the initial landings on Kiska, the Aleutians, and went overseas in September, 1943.

"We were aboard a hospital ship coming from Italy to England when the big show started," he said "but we steered clear of the zone of activity and didn't see a thing."

Other Edmonton men with whom he fought in the 1st special force include Sgt. L. E. Kirby, S-Sgt. T. W. Starkie, Capt. S. C. Waters, Sgt. T. R. Kinch and S-Sgt. K. Meikins.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERED
By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERED

It would seem that one could not write too often about the folly of expecting a child to develop a wholesome appetite for solid foods so long as he continues to drink milk by bottle.

This has been said over and over again but it does not seem to make any impression on mothers who continue to wonder and ask why their children won't eat.

One mother wrote recently, "I can't get my child to eat, but she still loves her bottle and will drink eight ounces of milk four times a day."

That is the answer. There is no other. The child is going on 17 months of age. Because the mother will not deprive her of bottles—for fear she wouldn't eat anything—the problem continues the same. No bad habit can be changed so long as nothing is done any differently. Change brings change. When a child of this age satisfies appetite with sufficient milk, the food goes begging.

One way to inspire an appetite without taking the bottles away too hastily is to give only half as much milk and an equal amount of water in them. Thus the child is not deprived of fluid—which she needs—but the nutrition is cut in half and an appetite develops. Once she has begun to eat and likes her food, then the milk by bottle should be cut little by little until she gets only an ounce or so by bottle. This amount can then disappear and only cups be offered.

Children are seldom as set about this habit as are their parents, who far change even more than does the child.

Ways of eating, hours of feeding, all of these change as the child grows and in this case three meals a day with nothing but water or orange juice between meals would arouse a much better appetite than four meals. This number is often too much for the child of six or seven months.

There will be no improvement until the mother willingly admits that what is good for everyone else is likewise good for her child. Simple, wholesome food, chewy foods, crisp foods, three times a day and milk after the meal, are what this child needs. If the milk won't be taken by cup, then include it in the solid foods. There is always a solution, if the mother conscientiously desires it.

Our leaflet, "Feeding From One to Two Years," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldered in care of this newspaper.

COFFEE IS NOT MADE FROM COFFEE BERRIES

Coffee berries are a fruit form that develop from white blossoms on the coffee plants which resemble trees. The berries resemble cherries in shape, size and color. Inside the berry, enclosed in the soft yellowish flesh are two seeds lying close together. It is these soft, bluish-green seeds that are extracted from the berry, dried and used for making coffee. The whole berry is never used for beverage. Coffee drinking dates from antiquity and spread from Abyssinia to most of the western world through the Arabs. It is native to that country and also in Liberia, West Africa.

Last Nazis Leave

BUENOS AIRES, July 13.—(AP)—The last official German representatives in the western hemisphere left for Europe last night. An Argentine ship sailing for Lisbon, Portugal, took along its passengers 125 Germans including members of the embassy at Buenos Aires and consulates throughout Argentina as well as their families and servants.

THESE WOMEN!

"The trouble with those girls listening to that swoon-crooner is that they don't scream loud enough to drown him out!"

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Erring Wives Pay By Loss of All Respect

They Barter Names of Their Husbands and Children Merely to Satisfy Desire for Flattery

Kisses, Attention of Other Men

The philandering husband has always been a familiar figure in our midst, but the flirtatious wife has been a more or less rare bird. Of course, there were specimens of her here and there, but she was still uncommon enough to be pointed out as an object of interest and to furnish food for gossip. But of late years the species has been increasing so fast that the married woman with her boy friend is no longer a zoo exhibit. She is just a bedraggled hen who is trying to act like a pullet and who hasn't gumption enough to know that her fly days are over, and that if she has a good, safe roost pole she had better stay on it.

And whether the loosening of morals among wives is due to the times and the changing of standards of conduct, or whether women have decided that men have no right to monopolize unfaithfulness, and that what is savor for the gender is also sauce for the goose, no one knows.

Certainly the modern woman has no more reason for scrapping her marriage vows than her Grandmother had. Indeed, far less. For while Grandpa was no doubt a noble, Christian character, he was a petty tyrant as a husband, and no wife nowadays would put up with being treated the way he treated Grandpa. Also, women in the past must have lost their tastes for their husbands as often as they do now, but they stuck to their bargains and sat by their cradles, instead of stepping out with playboys.

And so I urge every one who heads a household to buy, beg or steal a good pinch (5 grains) of copper sulfate and keep it in the medicine cupboard, or first aid kit to give as an emetic, dissolved in two spoonfuls of water, one spoonful first dose, the other for second dose if necessary.

day's hand come up. South was certainly in an uncomfortable position when Feinberg in the West started to play those spades.

South won the opening lead with the jack of hearts, led the spade, and now Feinberg started his parade of the wooden soldiers. When he cashed his last spade, dummy was left with the king of hearts, queen of clubs, and the ace of spades, king-jack of diamonds and queen-nine of clubs and had to make a discard on the last spade.

This was one of the rare cases in which a player is squeezed in three suits. A discard from any one of the three suits gave the declarer the balance of the tricks.

Move C.C.F. Meet To Larger Hall

REGINA, July 13.—(CP)—Hon. C. M. Fines, president of the Saskatchewan section C.C.F., said last night the ninth annual convention will move to the Regina city hall auditorium Thursday to accommodate the 700 delegates. More than 300 delegates registered Tuesday and others streamed into Regina all day. Only 500 had been expected, which is the capacity of the present meeting place.

When allowing children to "fight it out" means the stronger one undoubtedly will win, this solution is obviously unfair and unwise.

Chamber Will Grant Guest Memberships

The granting of guest membership for the current year to members of the armed forces with at least one year's services, was announced at a meeting of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce, held in the Macdonald hotel Wednesday evening. The concession added that such members of the forces must be resident in Edmonton at the time of sponsorship, that the sponsor himself must be a member of the organization in good standing.

This was one of the points, it was hoped, which would see added interest and an increased membership in the Junior Chamber.

A special meeting of the club executive, Monday, also recommended that former "Jaycees" now in the services be invited to attend meetings as guests of the club, it was stated.

Special entertainment was provided by S. Sgt. Frank J. Herman, U.S. Army, with his acts of legerdemain, who proved himself a master of manipulation with cards, cyrcle, handkerchiefs and a miniature guillotine.

"KICKS UNLIMITED"

A half-hour of "Kicks Unlimited" followed, when members had the chance to "unload" and express their disapproval of things generally.

E. G. Ellerton, member of the senior body of the chamber, attended the meeting, the next of which will be held Aug. 9 when members of the Allied Arts Council will present one of their productions.

Commencing in September, it was announced, the club will meet on the first and third Wednesdays of each month, instead of the present second and fourth.

W. Leonard Aldridge, president, acted as chairman.

Free Political Thought Urged

REGINA, July 13.—(CP)—The Co-operative Commonwealth youth movement, holding its annual convention in conjunction with the ninth convention of the Saskatchewan section C.C.F. last night urged that "freedom of political thought be encouraged in Canada."

More than 250 delegates unanimously approved a resolution stating a stipulation by "many employers" that their employees remain politically inactive was contrary to democratic principles.

Another resolution unanimously adopted favored the apprenticeship system and recommended it be extended in co-operation with vocational schools in Saskatchewan. It suggested amendments to the Saskatchewan Apprenticeship Act, stipulating hours of study and of practical work, and that the government subsidy paid to employers of apprentices be discontinued.

C.C.F. Is Using Catch Phrases Manning Says

Supporters of the C.C.F. have been misled by vague propaganda and catch phrases to believe that the party stands for something very different than what its own official text books reveal as its ultimate objective, Premier Ernest Manning declared in an address here on Wednesday night.

He charged that the C.C.F. has no hope of forming the next Dominion government.

Answering questions as to why the Social Credit and C.C.F. forces did not unite to sweep away the old line parties and the champions of reaction, he said that there was absolutely no basis for unity between the philosophies of the two parties.

He defended the record of the Social Credit government and appealed for support in the election of Aug. 8.

Premier Manning said in part: Social Crediters stand uncompromisingly for the freedom of the individual within a proper functioning democracy. Our concept is that the state and all its institutions exist to serve the individuals comprising the nation. We believe that the power of control should be decentralized to a maximum extent and exercised by the people; that the government is best which needs to govern least. We believe that all monopoly control is bad—whether exercised by private corporations or by the state.

SPECIAL ORDER

We are striving to bring about a social order in which personal initiative and genuine individual enterprise—not the finance dominated racket we have had in the past will have full scope. We are fighting for a real properly functioning democracy in which every citizen will have as a right of citizenship a full measure of social and optimistic security together with the full freedom which comes from economic independence.

The state socialism of the C.C.F. is based on the entirely opposite social philosophy. It conceives the state as supreme and the individual citizen as existing to conform to the dictates of the state planners.

Thus the individual becomes the creature of a vast state machine controlled by the political party in power. Any economic security he gets is at the expense of his personal freedom. As the state authorities—that is, those in control of the state's institutions—take over various industries, control the markets and increasingly impose their plans on the people, individuals must become increasingly dependent on the political party in power and upon the state bureaucrats for their very existence.

STATE MONOPOLY

Corporation monopolies would be replaced by a vast state monopoly. Power would become centralized more and more in the hands of a ruling group. Individual enterprises and personal initiative would be stifled—and democracy would progressively be replaced by state regimentation.

There is no basis for agreement between Social Crediters and the C.C.F. It is undoubtedly true that very few of the supporters of the C.C.F. across Canada are in favor of state dictatorship. They have been misled by vague propaganda and catch phrases to believe that the C.C.F. stands for something very different than what its own official text books reveal as its ultimate objective.

I am satisfied that if they knew and understood the truth the vast majority of Canadians would be implacably opposed to policies which inevitably lead to state dictatorship. That brings me to the issues in this election. Many of you must wonder why the C.C.F. is making such a frantic effort to discredit the Social Credit government—why the party has imported its federal leader, its provincial leaders in other provinces and a battery of paid political storm troopers into Alberta from all across Canada in an attempt to turn the people of Alberta against a government of their own choice which for nine years has proved its sincerity in their behalf.

REASON IS SIMPLE

The reason is very simple. State Socialism is being presented to the people of Canada as the only alternative to the old discredited finance-dominated system. People are being offered state dictatorship as the alternative to financial domination. It is being done as cunningly as its advocates know how.

In Saskatchewan, C.C.F. speakers openly told the people that if they were elected as the government they would give them the advanced health, education and other social services enjoyed by the people of Alberta under a Social Credit government.

Yet the same men come into this province to denounce Social Credit and the Social Credit government. Why? Because they know that when the people of Alberta again return their Social Credit government with an increased majority, the people all across Canada will know that there is not only another alternative, but a much better alternative than the C.C.F. to the old line party rule.

POWERFUL MOVEMENT

Already a powerful Social Credit movement is organized in Quebec. Organization work has commenced in western Ontario. Social Crediters in Manitoba are likewise busy organizing. Strong Social Credit support is waiting to be mobilized in Saskatchewan, as was shown by the 33,000 votes cast for Social Credit candidates in that province in 1939. When disillusionment sets in after a year or so of C.C.F. government in that province, the people there will be more than ready to follow Alberta's lead. A good start has already been made in British Columbia.

You are being told that in this election that you should follow

LAFF A-DAY

"Excuse it, Harriet! It's a telegram from George. He wants me to get off the phone, so he can call me up!"

Saskatchewan and put in a C.C.F. government, because that party will be the next government of Canada.

In fact that is about the only argument being used by the C.C.F. speakers. Let us examine it frankly.

In the first place the C.C.F. have no hope of forming the next federal government. Even if that party obtained eighty per cent of the seats in the western provinces and a third of the Ontario seats—which is more than their most optimistic supporters dare to hope for—it would still be far from becoming the government.

The C.C.F. has no support in Quebec and it can never muster anything like majority support in the federal field in Ontario. The people of those provinces can never be sold state socialism, no matter how subtly it is disguised. Practically all its support in the provincial fields has been won by the C.C.F. masquerading with the reform policies already introduced in

CFRN to Air Concert Music

A gay melodic program of light concert music called "Vacation Serenade" will be broadcast for eight weeks this summer over a network of Canadian stations while the cast of "Information Please" take their regular vacation. The program will be introduced to Edmonton listeners on Monday, July 17 at 7:30 p.m. M.D.T. over CFRN and will be heard each week at this time until September 4.

This summer series of broadcasts will feature the 33-piece concert orchestra of Wilfred Pelletier, Canadian-born conductor of the Metropolitan Opera and former director of the Montreal Conservatory of Music. Rose Hampton, leading soprano of the Metropolitan, and Channing Pollock, noted critic, author, playwright and lecturer.

Mr. Pelletier's career is of special interest to Canadians. At 15 he was engaged as assistant chorus-master of the Montreal Opera. A year later he won the Prix d'Europe of the Province of Quebec, studied in Paris and at 20 was engaged by the Metropolitan as assistant conductor. Radio listeners and opera-goers know that his direction of a performance is an assurance of a musical treat.

Miss Hampton, who in private life is Mrs. Wilfred Pelletier, began her career as a leading contralto with the Metropolitan. Her concert voice changed and she became a soprano, singing the leading roles in the Italian, French and German operas.

A high spot of each program will be supplied by Channing Pollock in a series of brief, informal chats under the general title of "Pack Up Your Troubles," which for these weeks and months of trouble and uncertainty will carry a message of inspiration and cheer to the people of Canada and the United States.

Canadian listeners will continue to hear the friendly voice of Announcer Herb May.

Sensational Charges Japanese in Philippines Round Up All Missionaries

By RAY CRONIN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—(AP)—Sensational charges, topped by espionage, have been lodged by the Japanese army of occupation against American religious workers in the Philippines, according to a broadcast from the Nippon-controlled Manila radio station.

The broadcast said all United Nations missionaries and other religious workers in the islands were rounded up during the last week and thrown into a civilian prison camp.

The broadcast said all the properties of the "enemy" religious organizations—supposedly the scores of churches, convents, schools and monasteries in the Philippines—were turned over to the "bureau of religious affairs of the republic."

LIMITED FREEDOM

After the Japanese army took over the city of Manila Jan. 2, 1942, about 500 missionaries and religious workers, most of them Americans, were permitted to live in their own religious compounds outside the Santo Tomas civilian prison camp.

Some of them, including both Roman Catholics and Protestants, refused to sign temporary releases offered by the Japanese. They were held in the camp. Others, while outside, had only limited freedom under the watchful eyes of the Japanese military police.

The temporary releases were a pledge against espionage and subversive activities. The Japanese made it clear any violations would draw "dire punishment."

The Japanese cracked down on some of the American missionaries in Manila in the fall of 1943. About a dozen Roman Catholic priests were taken to the military police prison at Fort Santiago, charged with disseminating "enemy" propaganda. We never learned what happened to the priests.

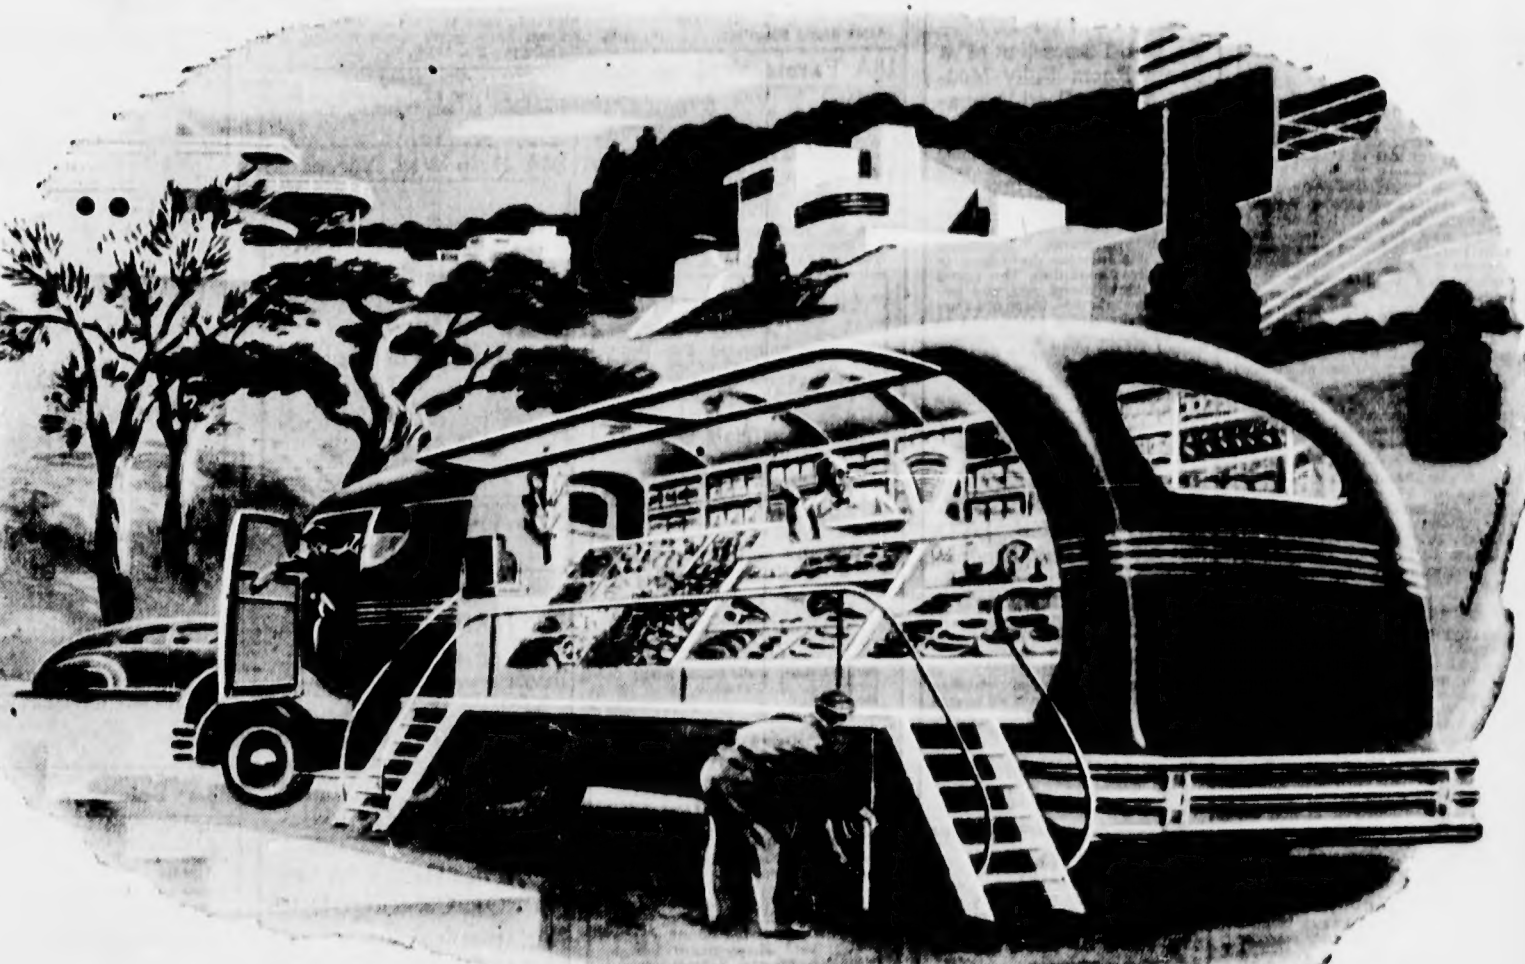

"Bomb Socks"

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—The German flying bomb attacks on London have given rise to a new development — "bomb socks" for dogs. Dog owners in areas strewn with glass from shattered windows now are equipping their pets with socks to prevent their feet from being cut.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the United States chamber of commerce, returned yesterday from a visit of eight weeks in Russia. He was accompanied by William L. White, editor of the Emporia, Kan., Gazette.

HERE'S YOUR AUTOMARKET, MADAM... the gift of men who think of tomorrow

MEAL PLANNING AND MEAL BUYING will be a cheer instead of a chore when groceries on wheels rush fresh foods to the housewife's door! Spotless, glass-roofed giant trailers, stopping in every block, will open up one side, creating platform and steps . . . and madam's grocery and meat market is ready for business.

HOUSEKEEPING will become a high and thrilling adventure when the time comes for turning airplanes back into refrigerators and kitchen sinks. You'll see food-mixers that almost "think", air conditioners that keep a house dust-free, and rugs cleaned in a jiffy by electronic "sweepers". These and a score of other household "miracles" are being planned for you by MEN WHO THINK OF TOMORROW!

But only if we perform our appointed tasks today will there be a tomorrow to look forward to. There is a war to win first! . . .

At no time in history have the people of a nation had so great a responsibility for the victory of their armies. It is everyone's war . . . everyone's job to keep up production, to cooperate in salvage and conservation programs, and above all, to help finance the war with their dollars by buying and keeping Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates.

Tomorrow is for us all! Let's work for it! Let us all be MEN WHO THINK OF TOMORROW!

MONTREAL, July 13.—(CP)—André Laurendeau, provincial leader of the Bloc populaire, said here last night in his opening campaign speech for the Aug. 8 Quebec general elections he was "formally charging the Liberal party with wanting to denaturalize French Canadians through centralizing everything in the hands of the federal government."

Mr. Laurendeau, who was accompanied by Messrs. Raymond, national leader of the Bloc and member of parliament for Beauport-Laprairie announced during the meeting he would run in Montreal-Laurier. Both Messrs. Laurendeau and Raymond said that "War dominates in Quebec as well as in Ottawa" and that it was the duty of every citizen to study the reactions of all political leaders in Ottawa as well as in Quebec towards the war."

Mr. Laurendeau said Canada should have followed the example of the Irish Free State "and its inspiring leader De Valera" and remained neutral in the present conflict.

Mr. Raymond said he would stand beside Mr. Laurendeau during the election campaign "because I think of the future of our youth." He said the federal government had not been able to find money to relieve unemployment before the war "but found billions to kill and to give England a country richer than ours."
